Brown All But Out Of Demo Race

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmond G. Brown all but bowed out today as a serious Democratic candidate for president.

Brown told his news conference he still expects to head California's 81-vote delegation to the Democratic national convention as a favorite son candidate.

But he added firmly he will take no active part toward becoming a serious candidate.

Would he accept the vice presidential nomination?

"I would not."

Brown, rounding out his first year as governor, left the door only slightly ajar on the possibility of becoming a national candidate for president.

"The only exception I make," he said, "is that in the event others came into California, then I might change my position in some other western states."

In other words: If other Democratic candidates sought delegates in California, he might make a pitch for delegates in unspecified western states.

Aside from that, Brown declared he doesn't intend to enter any presidential primaries, except California in the role of a favorite son.

California law rules out uninstructed delegations. It's the accepted thing for the governor of the party in power to enter the state primary as a nominal candidate.

Brown said Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York found out that in order to be a Republican candidate he had to marshal a tremendous research organization and had to leave his job as governor to campaign for support.

"I recognized all these things six months ago," he said.

Brown referred to Rockefeller's sentiment-sounding tours before pulling out, and said of his own party:

"They're not going to take a freshman governor from California unless he does some of the things Rockefeller did."

The Democratic governor said he watched the "shabby

Steel Breach Widened, Say Fact-Finders

Bitter Clash Marks End Of Hearings Before Ike's Board

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's fact-finding board ended public hearings in the steel dispute today and said both sides are now wider apart than when the panel entered the case two months ago.

The hearings were concluded with a bitter clash between union and company officials. Board chairman George W. Taylor said mediation efforts of the eight-months-old dispute are rather futile for the present.

REPORT DUE JAN. 6

Taylor said the three-man panel would concentrate on preparing its report to the President which is due by Jan. 6.

Verbal fireworks between R. Conrad Cooper, chief management negotiator, and United Steelworkers Union president David J. McDonald underscored the gloomy outlook for an early settlement.

Cooper read a concluding statement in which he accused the union of evading its duty to bargain in good faith. He said the union was seeking recommendations from a neutral body which, he said, would produce an "inflationary" agreement.

CALLS FOR PROBE

McDonald immediately shot back with a call for a congressional investigation of what he called the steel companies "monopoly power."

Congress should find out why some steel firms were on the verge of signing new contracts with the union but were prevented from doing so, McDonald said.

McDonald said the steel companies were "impaled on a hook" because of their campaign against inflation which he dubbed "pseudo-patriotism."

In his statement, Cooper said the union's latest proposal would cost the companies nearly 50 cents an hour over an 18-month period, or three times what the companies had offered.

U.S. Declares Self Free To Resume Atom Tests

Prior Notice To Rest Of World Promised

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—The United States freed itself today to resume nuclear weapons tests at any time—but with prior notice to the rest of the world.

The decision was reached at a top level conference of 15 administration officials, headed by President Eisenhower.

It put this country in a position to take a tougher stand in negotiations with Russia at Geneva over discontinuing nuclear tests.

What the administration did was to begin what a presidential statement called a "period of voluntary suspensions of nuclear weapons tests," beginning Jan. 1.

During this period, the President said, the U. S. will "continue its active program of weapons research, development and laboratory-type experimentation."

TO ANNOUNCE TESTS

"Although we consider ourselves free to resume nuclear weapon testing, we shall not resume nuclear weapons tests without announcing our intention in advance of any resumption," Eisenhower said.

At the moment the United States is operating under a moratorium on tests which lasts until midnight Thursday.

It has been in effect for 14 months. The White House said the moratorium was a definite commitment covering a definite time, as distinct from the new "voluntary suspension" which carries no deadline.

SLAP AT RUSSIA

Eisenhower accused Russia of clouding the Geneva talks, now in recess until Jan. 12, with "intemperate and technically unsupportable" information. He said the Soviets have injured chances of agreement for a halting of nuclear tests, but this country nevertheless will continue taking part in the discussions.

Among those the President called into today's meeting were Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, Secretary of Defense Thomas S. Gates Jr., Gen. Nathan F. Twining, chairman of the joint chief of staff, and Chairman John A. McCone of the Atomic Energy Commission.

ALSO INVITED

Also on the list were James P. Wadsworth and Dr. James B. Fisk, who represent the United States in different phases of East-West negotiations at Geneva on halting the testing of nuclear weapons.

The stumbling block at Geneva has been an inability of East and West to set up satisfactory international inspection system to detect and, if possible, prevent violations of any agreement among the nuclear powers to halt tests permanently.

S.F. Company May Attach Hayden's Ship

Actor Sterling Hayden's seafaring schooner, the 80-foot Wanderer, may be attached as security for payment of a $300 debt which a San Francisco car rental firm says the actor owes.

Attachment papers were being processed today by sheriff's deputies at the request of Ken Foster Co., Inc., of San Francisco. The company alleges that it allowed the actor to use a Volkswagen car during the months of November and December last year and January this year, and that the rental bill has reached $303.

The Wanderer was berthed at Sausalito after its tour of the South Seas.

Span Traffic Speed-Up Project Moves Ahead

Directors of the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District today authorized signing a contract to launch a two-and-one-half-million-dollar project for speeding traffic across the span.

The contract, for $123,500, is with Sverdrup and Parcel Engineering Co. of San Francisco and St. Louis to design traffic-control arches and widening of the Marin end of the bridge to permit four lanes of traffic to travel in one direction during rush hours.

Under the plan, the first 1,200 feet of the bridge structure would be widened by up to 20 feet to permit cars descending Waldo Grade to fan out more safely into four lanes toward San Francisco during the morning rush.

In the evenings, four lanes would be diverted for northbound traffic through a system of red and green signal lights which would be carried on 18 arches spanning the roadway across the bridge.

To accomplish this, the center section of the divided highway on the Marin side, as far north as the first big cut in the

E. Bay Thugs Suspected In Marin Holdup

Mill Valley police said today they suspect two gunmen who pistol whipped patrons of an East Bay tavern Dec. 22 are the pair who held up Del's Liquor Store in Mill Valley Dec. 9.

Police said they plan to seek a warrant for the arrest of Richard Dublinski and Larkin Murrell. Murrell is in custody in Oakland and Dublinski is in jail in Chicago. Their blonde companion in the East Bay incident, Mrs. Corinne Weiland, reportedly told Oakland police that she and the two men had been involved in eight robberies in recent weeks in the Bay Area, one of them in a Marin County liquor store on Dec. 9.

The Mill Valley store was robbed of about $300 by two gruff-talking gunmen who forced patrons and two clerks into a back room.

Marin Shivers As Mercury Takes Big Dip

Heavy frost covered many areas of Marin this morning as the mercury slipped to the lowest point yet this winter in San Rafael and within one degree of the season's lowest in Woodacre and Novato.

Residents shivered as temperatures hovered around the freezing mark.

The Weather Man forecast crisp, clear weather for tomorrow, with fair skies. Low temperatures tonight will be a chilly 37 to 44 degrees with gentle winds, according to the official forecast.

Rain isn't in sight for the Bay Area for the next few days.

One of the coldest spots in the county today was Woodacre, where the county fire department reported a low of 25 degrees. San Rafael's temperature plunged to 35 degrees, the lowest of the season. It dropped to 36 degrees last Saturday.

Other lows reported: Novato, 28; Bolinas, 42; Terra Linda, 35; San Anselmo, 33; Tam Valley, 32; the Air Force's 666th Aircraft Control and Warning Squadron on Mt. Tamalpais, 29.

Novato's low this season was 27 on Dec. 7, and Woodacre had a 22-degree reading the same day.

San Francisco decorded 46 degrees.

In the Sierra, Squaw Valley's Olympic Village froze under four-degree temperatures, but faced no new snow.

Fluoridation Vote Decision Near

Whether fluoridation of Marin's water supplies will be put to a vote in June will be determined in a day or two, County Clerk George S. Jones reported today.

Jones and members of his staff were checking some 7,000 names of petitioners who want the fluoridation question decided by public vote in the June primary.

There are about 48,000 registered voters in the water district. If at least 10 per cent of the total registered voters have signed the petition, the fluoridation matter will go on the ballot.

Girl Travels 111 Miles In Hunt For Lost Dog

ST. THOMAS, Canada (AP)—An exhausted 17-year-old girl came back from Detroit last night with only a leash and an aching heart to show for her grueling search for her lost dog.

Judy Ferren's German shepherd, Jinty, remained lost.

Judy arrived in New York last week from her home in Southhampton, England, bringing her year-old dog with her. Gladys Ferren, the girl's mother, met her and they started on the train to Mrs. Ferren's home here.

Judy rode with Jinty in the baggage car from New York to Buffalo. There they changed to a train for St. Thomas that lacked a baggage car.

Jinty rode in a baggage car to Detroit and was to be transferred to a train that would take her to St. Thomas in time for Christmas.

But Jinty bolted the car when the door was opened and disappeared in the New York Central yards in Detroit.

Judy told her mother, "If I could only get to Detroit. Jinty would know my voice if she heard it and would come to me. She won't come if anyone else calls her."

So Judy got up early Sunday morning and hitchhiked 111 miles to Detroit. She told her mother by telephone she had a dollar and would live on hamburgers until she found Jinty.

But despite help from railroad officials and long hours wandering through the foggy New York Central yards and around the depot, no dog answered her calls.

An NYC official bought her a ticket home late yesterday.

Communist Nations Agree To Resume Disarmament Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and four Communist neighbors will reopen long-suspended East-West disarmament talks with five Western nations in Geneva March 15.

The Soviet Union last night agreed to the starting date proposed by the five Western nations—the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy.

The Soviet reply, handed to French Ambassador Maurice Dejean, said Bulgaria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania would be the other four Communist nations at the table.

Disarmament talks sponsored by the United Nations have been suspended since September, 1957, because of Soviet refusal to participate in negotiations in which the Communists did not have numerical representation equal to the West. The U. N. subcommittee which carried on previous negotiations was made up of the Soviet Union and four Western nations—the United States, Britain and Canada.

Nixon-Kennedy Test Hinted In New Hampshire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility developed today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.) may run a presidential handicap race in New Hampshire.

Associates said today Nixon is putting off for the time being any decision to permit his name to go on that state's March 8 preferential primary ballot.

HAS CLEAR FIELD

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's withdrawal from contention seems to have left Nixon without prospective primary opponents and with a clear field for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

But some of the vice president's advisers are studying the possibility of entering his name in New Hampshire to give grass-root Republicans an opportunity to endorse in advance what appears to be his inevitable choice as their nominee.

DEMO CRITICISM

Such a move could be calculated to offset Democratic contentions that GOP "bosses" turned Rockefeller down in favor of Nixon without consulting the wishes of the party's rank and file.

Nixon got a whopping write-in vote in New Hampshire in 1956 when unsuccessful efforts were being made to dump him from second place on the ticket headed by President Eisenhower.

With the state's GOP organization solidly behind him, Nixon could be expected to roll up an impressive total, even though he had no opponent to spice voter interest.

Kennedy, reported on the verge of plunging publicly into the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination, could find himself in the same position on his party's ballot.

Allies Invite Russ To May Summit Meet

MOSCOW (UPI) — The American, British and French ambassadors delivered their government's invitations to the Soviet Union today to attend a summit conference in Paris May 16.

The letters from President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle were in reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's letter of Dec. 25 suggesting April 21 or May 4 as possible dates for the East-West top level meeting.

The Western powers originally had proposed April 27 for the conference, but Khrushchev was unable to accept that date because the meeting would have conflicted with the traditional Soviet May Day celebrations.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, British Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly and French Ambassador Maurice Dejean called separately on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko with the invitations this afternoon.

Foreign observers believed May 16 probably will be acceptable to the Soviet government.

Fuel Tank Falls From Jet; Flames Kill Woman

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A woman riding a bicycle died in a pillar of fire yesterday when a B47 fuel tank fell like a bomb and exploded.

The victim was June A. David, 32-year-old mother of two boys.

Officer Clifford Smith said the woman was sucked into a fiery column that shot 250 to 300 feet high. Her incinerated body was found 30 to 40 feet from the bicycle.

The tank, laden with 1,750 gallons of fuel, fell as the plane rose from Davis-Monthan Air Force Base. Smith said it exploded on impact and spread a fiery carpet 675 feet long and 352 wide.

Even as an investigation began, the Air Force investigators praised the pilot for averting a greater tragedy. Investigators said Capt. Donald R. Shilling, commander of the four-man crew, kept the fuel tank from falling in a densely populated Tucson suburb only by putting the plane into a steep bank.

A spokesman said the pilot had only split seconds to decide what to do when he felt the six-ton fuel tank shift before it fell.

Man's Arm Broken In Auto Mishap

San Rafael printer John A. Locati suffered a left arm fracture Christmas Day when his car collided with a parked vehicle on Mission avenue.

Locati, who lives at 93 Jewell street, went to Marin General Hospital yesterday and was released after treatment.

He told police he was driving east on Mission avenue about 3 p.m. when he became confused when another car came toward him. He swerved to the left, and his car struck a parked car registered to Richard Keaton of 552 Belle avenue. The mishap occurred near 170 Mission avenue.

Negro Vote Drive

ATLANTA, Ga. (UPI) — The National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People and the Southern Christian Leaders Conference began a campaign today to get one million more Negroes registered to vote in the South.

As he lifted the hood, a blade of the radiator fan flew off and hit Quintana on the forehead. He died two hours later.

Gun-Toters Freed

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP)—No charges are being filed against nine non-union workers in whose cars weapons were found as they arrived to reopen the Wilson & Co. meat packing plant here yesterday.

The workers were held in jail until O. Russell Olson, Freeborn County attorney, ruled last night that they could not be charged with contempt because they had not been officially served with a district court order barring firearms near the plant.

Jet Drops Into Bay

ALAMEDA (AP)—A Navy F3H Demon all-weather jet fighter ran off the runway on landing at the Alameda Naval Air Station yesterday and dropped into San Francisco Bay.

The pilot, Lt. Cmdr. C. H. Dorchester, 38, was picked up unhurt by a crash boat as the plane sank.

Economy Boom Set

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee staff report predicts the American economy in the future will grow at a somewhat higher rate than it has in the past 50 years.

The report warns a depression could upset the prediction. On the other hand, it adds: "Actually, we can enjoy an even higher rate of growth if we try."

The report was made yesterday by the staff of the Senate-House Economic Committee and was based on a survey of views of economists and other specialists.

Changes In Liturgy

VATICAN CITY (UPI) — The Roman Catholic Church is preparing a reform of the breviary recited daily by its priests, Vatican sources said today.

The sources said slight changes in the wording of a few verses in the Mass also were under study as part of a general reform of church liturgy begun by the late Pope Pius XII. Purpose of the reforms was to make religious services clearer and more appealing to modern man.

Big U. S.-Russ Deal

MOSCOW (UPI)—An American textile combine signed a contract here yesterday to supply 20 million dollars worth of equipment for a huge textile plant in the Soviet Union.

The agreement represented one of the biggest trade deals between U.S. firms and the Soviet Union since the start of the cold war.

Religious Relics Stolen

JERSEY CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Two gunmen seized two religious relics valued at $140,000 from the owner as he was returning them to a bank last night. A medallion said to contain a piece of thorn from the crown worn by Christ and a splinter of the cross on which He was crucified were taken, their owner, Matthew Jacksch, 69, told police.

Police theorized the bandits probably thought the envelope containing the relics held cash to be deposited at the bank.

Free New Year Drinks

RED BANK, N.J. (AP)—Motorists on New Year's Day will be served a free drink by the Garden State Parkway. They'll get their choice of coffee or tea. Five thousand printed invitations are planned for the "safety break," the Highway Authority said Monday.

RENO (AP)—A murder charge is being filed today against Nick Goodman, who police say admits the fatal shooting of gambler Bill Duffin on Christmas Day in Carson City.

Communist Nations Agree To Resume Disarmament Talks

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet Union and four Communist neighbors will reopen long-suspended East-West disarmament talks with five Western nations in Geneva March 15.

The Soviet Union last night agreed to the starting date proposed by the five Western nations—the United States, Britain, France, Canada and Italy.

The Soviet reply, handed to French Ambassador Maurice Dejean, said Bulgaria, Poland, Czechoslovakia and Romania would be the other four Communist nations at the table.

Disarmament talks sponsored by the United Nations have been suspended since September, 1957, because of Soviet refusal to participate in negotiations in which the Communists did not have numerical representation equal to the West. The U. N. subcommittee which carried on previous negotiations was made up of the Soviet Union and four Western nations—the United States, Britain and Canada.

Nixon-Kennedy Test Hinted In New Hampshire

WASHINGTON (AP)—The possibility developed today that Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. John F. Kennedy (D.-Mass.) may run a presidential handicap race in New Hampshire.

Associates said today Nixon is putting off for the time being any decision to permit his name to go on that state's March 8 preferential primary ballot.

HAS CLEAR FIELD

New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller's withdrawal from contention seems to have left Nixon without prospective primary opponents and with a clear field for the 1960 GOP presidential nomination.

But some of the vice president's advisers are studying the possibility of entering his name in New Hampshire to give grass-root Republicans an opportunity to endorse in advance what appears to be his inevitable choice as their nominee.

DEMO CRITICISM

Such a move could be calculated to offset Democratic contentions that GOP "bosses" turned Rockefeller down in favor of Nixon without consulting the wishes of the party's rank and file.

Nixon got a whopping write-in vote in New Hampshire in 1956 when unsuccessful efforts were being made to dump him from second place on the ticket headed by President Eisenhower.

With the state's GOP organization solidly behind him, Nixon could be expected to roll up an impressive total, even though he had no opponent to spice voter interest.

Kennedy, reported on the verge of plunging publicly into the contest for the Democratic presidential nomination, could find himself in the same position on his party's ballot.

Allies Invite Russ To May Summit Meet

MOSCOW (UPI) — The American, British and French ambassadors delivered their government's invitations to the Soviet Union today to attend a summit conference in Paris May 16.

The letters from President Eisenhower, British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and French President Charles de Gaulle were in reply to Premier Nikita Khrushchev's letter of Dec. 25 suggesting April 21 or May 4 as possible dates for the East-West top level meeting.

The Western powers originally had proposed April 27 for the conference, but Khrushchev was unable to accept that date because the meeting would have conflicted with the traditional Soviet May Day celebrations.

U. S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson, British Ambassador Sir Patrick Reilly and French Ambassador Maurice Dejean called separately on Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko with the invitations this afternoon.

Foreign observers believed May 16 probably will be acceptable to the Soviet government.

3 Sniveling Tristans Sing In Relay At Met

NEW YORK (AP)—The tenors played musical chairs at the Metropolitan Opera last night, and you needed a scorecard to tell who was playing Tristan to Birgit Nilsson's Isolde.

When the curtain rose on Richard Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," Miss Nilsson, the sensational new Swedish star, was being taken to Cornwall by Tristan, sung by Ramon Vinay, a Chilean tenor.

In the second act, when Isolde embraced Tristan, she found Karl Kiebl, a German tenor, in her arms.

In the final act when Isolde gazed upon the face of her beloved, itw as a new Tristan—Albert Da Costa, an American tenor.

Why the switches?

Head colds, said the Met.

Originally, Miss Nilsson, whose Met debut on Dec. 18 as Isolde was a smash success, was to sing with Vinay.

But he had a cold and felt he couldn't last more than one act.

What to do? The house was sold out and the Met didn't want to disappoint 4,000 fans who had come to hear Miss Nilsson, described by some critics as the greatest Wagnerian soprano since Kirsten Flagstad.

Tenor Liebel was considered next. He also had a cold and felt he could last only one act. With two down and one to go, tenor Da Costa was summoned.

"One act," said Da Costa, who also had a cold.

So the Met took the unprecedented way out—a different Tristan in each act. Met manager Rudolf Bing tol dthe audience of his "tenor trouble" before the performance.

No one seemed to mind—there was only one Isolde.

Death Takes Nazi Puppet War Criminal

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Dr. Ante Pavelic, 70, Nazi puppet president of Croatia during World War II and one of the leading war criminals still at large, died yesterday in the German hospital here.

Pavelic was wanted by President Tito's Yugoslav government for trial on charges that he was responsible for the killing of 700,000 Serbs and Jews during his three-and-one-half years as the Axis viceroy.

He fled Yugoslavia in May, 1945, and turned up in Argentina later in the year.

He was wounded in an assassination attempt in April, 1957, which he blamed on agents of Tito. A short time later, Argentina agreed to consider a Yugoslav extradition request and Pavelic fled again.

Long before World War II, Pavelic was sought in half a dozen countries for terrorist plots and political assassinations, including those of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou in 1934.

Equipment Stolen From High School

Burglars broke into the audio-visual department of San Rafael High School during the holidays and stole valuable equipment, police reported today.

The thieves apparently broke windows in the basement of the main administration building to enter. New tape recorders and a typewriter are gone. A list of other stolen or damaged items was not immediately available. The loss is covered by insurance.

The break-in was discovered this morning.

Big Blackout Hits S.F. Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The most widespread blackout since World War II hit San Francisco last night when a huge electrical transformer blew out. The power failure was short lived.

The transformer blew out at 11:07 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation at Bayshore and Geneva aveuue. Several manhole covers in the Cow Palace area were blown into the air.

Christmas tree lights, television sets, other electrical appliances and house lights went dead, setting off a flood of telephone calls to police, radio and TV stations and newspapers. Street lights, on a different circuit, remained on.

Darkened districts in San Francisco included Potrero, Ingleside, West Portal, Sunset, Taraval and Outer Mission. Lights blinked momentarily in downtown San Francisco. A brief blackout occurred in San Mateo County, affecting Brisbane, Daly City, San Bruno, Colma and Millbrae.

Police diverted traffic from the Cow Palace area to prevent accidents. One man reported a lacerated leg when he fell into an open manhole. A flying manhole cover bashed in the rear of an auto.

PG&E crews were restoring service by 11:28 p.m., rerouting power and switching in other substations.

3 Sniveling Tristans Sing In Relay At Met

NEW YORK (AP)—The tenors played musical chairs at the Metropolitan Opera last night, and you needed a scorecard to tell who was playing Tristan to Birgit Nilsson's Isolde.

When the curtain rose on Richard Wagner's "Tristan and Isolde," Miss Nilsson, the sensational new Swedish star, was being taken to Cornwall by Tristan, sung by Ramon Vinay, a Chilean tenor.

In the second act, when Isolde embraced Tristan, she found Karl Kiebl, a German tenor, in her arms.

In the final act when Isolde gazed upon the face of her beloved, itw as a new Tristan—Albert Da Costa, an American tenor.

Why the switches?

Head colds, said the Met.

Originally, Miss Nilsson, whose Met debut on Dec. 18 as Isolde was a smash success, was to sing with Vinay.

But he had a cold and felt he couldn't last more than one act.

What to do? The house was sold out and the Met didn't want to disappoint 4,000 fans who had come to hear Miss Nilsson, described by some critics as the greatest Wagnerian soprano since Kirsten Flagstad.

Tenor Liebel was considered next. He also had a cold and felt he could last only one act. With two down and one to go, tenor Da Costa was summoned.

"One act," said Da Costa, who also had a cold.

So the Met took the unprecedented way out—a different Tristan in each act. Met manager Rudolf Bing tol dthe audience of his "tenor trouble" before the performance.

No one seemed to mind—there was only one Isolde.

Death Takes Nazi Puppet War Criminal

MADRID, Spain (AP)—Dr. Ante Pavelic, 70, Nazi puppet president of Croatia during World War II and one of the leading war criminals still at large, died yesterday in the German hospital here.

Pavelic was wanted by President Tito's Yugoslav government for trial on charges that he was responsible for the killing of 700,000 Serbs and Jews during his three-and-one-half years as the Axis viceroy.

He fled Yugoslavia in May, 1945, and turned up in Argentina later in the year.

He was wounded in an assassination attempt in April, 1957, which he blamed on agents of Tito. A short time later, Argentina agreed to consider a Yugoslav extradition request and Pavelic fled again.

Long before World War II, Pavelic was sought in half a dozen countries for terrorist plots and political assassinations, including those of King Alexander of Yugoslavia and French Foreign Minister Louis Barthou in 1934.

Big Blackout Hits S.F. Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The most widespread blackout since World War II hit San Francisco last night when a huge electrical transformer blew out. The power failure was short lived.

The transformer blew out at 11:07 p.m. at the Pacific Gas and Electric Co. substation at Bayshore and Geneva aveuue. Several manhole covers in the Cow Palace area were blown into the air.

Christmas tree lights, television sets, other electrical appliances and house lights went dead, setting off a flood of telephone calls to police, radio and TV stations and newspapers. Street lights, on a different circuit, remained on.

Darkened districts in San Francisco included Potrero, Ingleside, West Portal, Sunset, Taraval and Outer Mission. Lights blinked momentarily in downtown San Francisco. A brief blackout occurred in San Mateo County, affecting Brisbane, Daly City, San Bruno, Colma and Millbrae.

Police diverted traffic from the Cow Palace area to prevent accidents. One man reported a lacerated leg when he fell into an open manhole. A flying manhole cover bashed in the rear of an auto.

PG&E crews were restoring service by 11:28 p.m., rerouting power and switching in other substations.

Equipment Stolen From High School

Burglars broke into the audio-visual department of San Rafael High School during the holidays and stole valuable equipment, police reported today.

The thieves apparently broke windows in the basement of the main administration building to enter. New tape recorders and a typewriter are gone. A list of other stolen or damaged items was not immediately available. The loss is covered by insurance.

The break-in was discovered this morning.

PLAYMATES ON A KANSAS FARM

Three playmates on the Virgil Ward farm near Wichita, Kan., enjoy a romp together. Kenny Ward, 11, has some difficulty keeping up with the other two pals—Phyllis, a month-old Guernsey calf, and Denlow, a toy collie. The Wards say that the dog took protective charge of the calf from the start and shares its milk-and-oats feed. The dog spends most of its time with the calf, and sometimes young Kenny joins in the fun. (AP Wirephoto)

BUT AT HIGHER PRICES

There'll Be Lots To Buy In '60

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer will find plenty to buy in 1960 and lots of salesmen competing to sell him goods or services.

Many consumers will have a bit more wherewithal to meet their needs and their desires. But they'll need it, since prices and charges are expected to creep a little higher, especially in the booming first half of the year.

Here's the outlook for your job and pay, for the cost of eating, for outfitting your family, for buying and furnishing a home, for getting a new car, and for keeping the tax collector happy.

JOBS—More people at work and pocketing more money.

A big surge in industrial output in the first half of 1960 should bring employment to a new high and cut the total of the jobless.

The gains won't be nationwide. A few industries aren't keeping step with the majority, but the job outlook is better than it was this time a year ago.

PERSONAL INCOME — Fatter pocketbooks for many on pay day but maybe just as flat before the next one rolls around.

Wages and salaries, dividends and interest are all due to rise moderately. But prices and service charges—and especially local taxes—will be going up with them. The national total of personal income should hit a record high, up about six per cent.

LIVING COSTS — Creeping higher not sprinting.

Although food prices may ease a bit, but not as much as in 1959, other costs will tend higher as people spend a larger total for goods and services that are more expensive to provide.

FOOD—Little over-all change in prices.

There's an abundance of feed for livestock and of most fruits and vegetables in cans and freezers. As 1959 ends cattle prices are strong and hogs off about 25 per cent. Costs of processing and distributing between the farm and the table creep a little higher.

SERVICES — Small hope for any relief here.

You will spend more for them in 1960 and you'll spend a larger percentage of your income for them. Medical costs and other kinds of personal care keep on rising. So do repair bills, recreation and travel costs.

CLOTHING—A price rise is predicted.

Piece goods are costing more, spring and fall lines will carry higher price tags than they did in 1959. In mid-year new wage demands are expected in the garment industry.

HOUSES — Harder to find mortgage money and costlier to finance.

Unless the official tight money policy is reversed, builders say fewer new houses will be built in 1960. But they still expect more than a million to be started. Interest rates on mortgages already have risen.

AUTOS — The widest choice of size and prices in years.

Domestic makers will offer all the old sizes and the new compact cars to boot. They expect domestic output and sales to top 1959.

TAXES — Much talk of relief but the final bill is likely to be higher.

Congress will take a new look at the federal tax structure, with an eye on the November elections. But little change is likely. At the state and local levels, the pressure will all be on the upside to meet new public needs and desires.

ADD IT UP—More gravy for most in the first half of the year at least.

MAJOR WORRIES: What tight money will do to the boom, whether inflation may get a new lease on life, whether labor strife will break out anew.

Turncoat Sent Back To Napa For 30 Days

LaRance V. Sullivan, 28, Korean War turncoat arrested on complaint of his grandmother in Marin City, was sent back to Napa State Hospital for another 30 days' observation after a sanity hearing in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli noted that Sullivan has "far greater analytic powers than many others of his station." However, since doctors at Napa State Hospital suggested further confinement, the judge sent Sullivan back to the hospital and asked the doctors to provide more information.

Sullivan, accused by his grandmother of attacking her and shoving her down on a couch, was sent to Napa on Dec. 17. He had been committed three times previously for alcoholism at the request of his wife, Berniece, from whom he is now separated.

During the noon hearing yesterday, Sullivan's sisters and Rev. Samuel L. Banks of Marin City pleaded to have him freed on probation. Reverend Banks, who is also a landscaper, said he is willing to take Sullivan under his wing, give him a job and help him get a new lease on life. He said he believes the man is quite normal, but needs friends.

Sullivan complained he is "ostracized" by everyone who finds out he chose to live in Red China after his capture during the Korean War. He returned to Marin last June.

"People aren't apt to open their hearts to me, and sometimes their minds," he complained. He said the constant ridicule becomes oppressive. All he wants is to be treated like anyone else, he insisted.

"In other words, a 50-50 give and take—that's what you want, is that it?" the judge inquired.

"Well, yes," Sullivan replied.

"Even 45-55 wouldn't be bad," he added with a smile.

Mrs. Mary Bell Frost, his 80-year-old grandmother who had him committed to Napa for 72 hours observation, conceded that Sullivan has always been normal except for the one time that he returned home drunk and pushed her against the couch. She said the only reason she signed the commitment papers was to stop him from drinking. When she asked for his arrest, she claimed he attempted to choke her.

Sullivan was one of 21 American soldiers who chose Communism after their capture in Korea. He said he was disillusioned by Red China because their system of government "did not live up to what I expected."

Measles Again Tops Marin's Disease List

Measles persisted as Marin County's most widespread communicable disease with 25 new cases for the week which ended last Saturday, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

But the number was cut by more than half from the total reported for the preceding week, when there were 58 cases in the county.

A large reduction also was noted in the number of new streptococcic infections. Last week only 14 new cases of such infections were reported, as compared with 39 in the preceding week, Doctor Albrecht said.

Mumps continued to be prevalent, with 24 cases reported last week, compared with 32 the week before.

Mill Valley, with 11 cases, and San Rafael, with eight, led the county in number of new measles cases. San Anselmo reported 14 cases of mumps, the largest concentration of that disease.

There were seven strep infections in Novato and five in San Rafael.

There also were two new cases of gonorrhea reported in Marin last week.

DIGNITARIES' WORDS LOST

Heedless Pilot Ruins Big Moment For Nigerian TV

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—A Nigerian pilot revved up his engine at the wrong time today and ruined a moment of history for Nigerian television.

The country's new television service had planned its first fullscale television coverage of a visit by a major dignitary—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Things went along alright at the start.

Hammarskjold's plane landed on schedule from Lome, Togoland. Cameras whirred to record his first visit to Nigerian soil.

Minutes later, Nigerian Prime Minister Abubakar Balewa landed by plane from Kaduna so he could extend personal greetings to Hammarskjold.

Cameras whirred again, and things went fine.

Then both men stepped up to the microphones and in front of cameras to exchange words of goodwill for the nation's television audience.

As Balewa began speaking, the pilot of a plane not 50 yards away started his engine.

Balewa raised his voice. The plane's engine roared even louder.

Balewa paused, shot an inquiring glance toward airport officials, a withering glance toward the plane.

Stepping closer to the microphone, he continued to raise his voice. But by now he was completely inaudible.

Newsmen in the background rushed closer to hear him, obscuring the cameras. Camera crews rushed forward and tried to shove the reporters away.

Hammarskjold, meanwhile, stepped up to the microphone after Balewa finished. But the plane's screaming engine drowned him out, too.

No one was quite certain, but Balewa and Hammarskjold appeared to have exchanged pleasantries in the diplomatic tradition.

Hearing On Cafe, Bar

The application of Helen and Albert Wiltshire to establish a restaurant and cocktail lounge by interior remodeling at the Wiltshire Towers Motel, 3725 Redwood Highway, north San Rafael, will be subject of a 10 a.m. public hearing Monday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Architect Set For Kentfield School Project

Kentfield School District trustees last night approved a contract for architectural services for the six-room addition to Wolfe Grade School — and saved themselves some money.

The contract with the San Francisco firm of Corlett and Spackman calls for a fee reduced from the normal 8 per cent to 6¾ per cent.

The reduction was made possible by partial re-use of plans for the original Wolfe School building, occupied about six weeks ago, Supt. Harold R. DePue said.

The architects' fee is based on the contractor's base bid plus alternates.

DePue said the architect had to redesign the lavatory unit and develop new plans for about 1,200-square feet of the 7,183 square feet in the total addition.

The plans are now being studied by the state Division of Architecture in Sacramento.

The addition will be located on the west side of the school site, adjacent to the parking area off McAlister avenue.

Merger Findings To Be Reviewed

Findings of the joint Larkspur-Corte Madera Merger Committee, composed primarily of city councilmen, will be reviewed tonight by the Citizen Merger Study Committee of Corte Madera.

Among other things, the joint group has determined that a saving of $25,000 to $35,000 in municipal operating costs could have been achieved in 1959-60 by consolidating the Twin Cities.

The Corte Madera committee will meet at 7:30 in Corte Madera Town Hall.

Holiday Weekend Traffic Toll Prediction Made

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council today said that 320 persons may die in traffic accidents over the three-day New Year's holiday weekend.

The council's statement came in the wake of the heavy traffic death toll over the Christmas weekend, which was below its pre-holiday estimate.

A final count showed that 493 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the 78-hour Christma holiday weekend—from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday. The council had estimated a possible toll of 530.

The known oil reserves in the Sahara Desert are estimated at four trillion barrels.

Scientist Finds Ruling Clique Often Deranged

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

CHICAGO (AP) — Rulers and bosses are generally smarter—but more mentally deranged—than other people, a sociologist said today.

The moral behavior of ruling groups tends to be more criminal and sub normal, added Prof. Walter A. Lunden of Iowa State University, Ames, Iowa.

"Ruling groups contain a larger proportion of the extreme mental types of the gifted and the mentally sick than the rank and file of the ruled population," he told the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The greater the power of the rulers, political leaders and big executives, the more corrupt and criminal they tend to be, Professor Lunden said.

But as their power becomes limited, "criminality of rulers and executives tends to decrease qualitatively and quantitatively. When the power of the ruling bodies is greatly limited, their criminality may become equal to or fall below that of the ruled populations."

"Not all leaders tend to show higher rates of criminality, but a great majority of them do," he continued. "Present day society tends to promote and to advance to high positions certain types of men."

Professor Lunden listed three such types:

"The inadequate psychopath, placid and emotionally blunt person, often taken for a profound man.

"The aggressive obsessive-compulsive boss, conceited, ambitious, domineering and intolerant.

"The ethically aberrant personality endowed with acute intelligence, but morally wily and cynical."

Professor Lunden said these viewpoints are borne out by all the evidence concerning ruling groups in Europe, Asia, North and South America.

But he holds out hope for change.

Now, he said, we are passing through the end of a 600-year period of culture in which advanced technology has produced power, violence and crime in high places.

"Very gradually the West is calling and hoping for new types of leaders and rulers who combine a high moral sense with sound scientific knowledge."

If such leaders don't arise, "Society is due for a very stormy period in the years ahead.

PLAYMATES ON A KANSAS FARM

Three playmates on the Virgil Ward farm near Wichita, Kan., enjoy a romp together. Kenny Ward, 11, has some difficulty keeping up with the other two pals—Phyllis, a month-old Guernsey calf, and Denlow, a toy collie. The Wards say that the dog took protective charge of the calf from the start and shares its milk-and-oats feed. The dog spends most of its time with the calf, and sometimes young Kenny joins in the fun. (AP Wirephoto)

BUT AT HIGHER PRICES

There'll Be Lots To Buy In '60

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The consumer will find plenty to buy in 1960 and lots of salesmen competing to sell him goods or services.

Many consumers will have a bit more wherewithal to meet their needs and their desires. But they'll need it, since prices and charges are expected to creep a little higher, especially in the booming first half of the year.

Here's the outlook for your job and pay, for the cost of eating, for outfitting your family, for buying and furnishing a home, for getting a new car, and for keeping the tax collector happy.

JOBS—More people at work and pocketing more money.

A big surge in industrial output in the first half of 1960 should bring employment to a new high and cut the total of the jobless.

The gains won't be nationwide. A few industries aren't keeping step with the majority, but the job outlook is better than it was this time a year ago.

PERSONAL INCOME — Fatter pocketbooks for many on pay day but maybe just as flat before the next one rolls around.

Wages and salaries, dividends and interest are all due to rise moderately. But prices and service charges—and especially local taxes—will be going up with them. The national total of personal income should hit a record high, up about six per cent.

LIVING COSTS — Creeping higher not sprinting.

Although food prices may ease a bit, but not as much as in 1959, other costs will tend higher as people spend a larger total for goods and services that are more expensive to provide.

FOOD—Little over-all change in prices.

There's an abundance of feed for livestock and of most fruits and vegetables in cans and freezers. As 1959 ends cattle prices are strong and hogs off about 25 per cent. Costs of processing and distributing between the farm and the table creep a little higher.

SERVICES — Small hope for any relief here.

You will spend more for them in 1960 and you'll spend a larger percentage of your income for them. Medical costs and other kinds of personal care keep on rising. So do repair bills, recreation and travel costs.

CLOTHING—A price rise is predicted.

Piece goods are costing more, spring and fall lines will carry higher price tags than they did in 1959. In mid-year new wage demands are expected in the garment industry.

HOUSES — Harder to find mortgage money and costlier to finance.

Unless the official tight money policy is reversed, builders say fewer new houses will be built in 1960. But they still expect more than a million to be started. Interest rates on mortgages already have risen.

AUTOS — The widest choice of size and prices in years.

Domestic makers will offer all the old sizes and the new compact cars to boot. They expect domestic output and sales to top 1959.

TAXES — Much talk of relief but the final bill is likely to be higher.

Congress will take a new look at the federal tax structure, with an eye on the November elections. But little change is likely. At the state and local levels, the pressure will all be on the upside to meet new public needs and desires.

ADD IT UP—More gravy for most in the first half of the year at least.

MAJOR WORRIES: What tight money will do to the boom, whether inflation may get a new lease on life, whether labor strife will break out anew.

Architect Set For Kentfield School Project

Kentfield School District trustees last night approved a contract for architectural services for the six-room addition to Wolfe Grade School — and saved themselves some money.

The contract with the San Francisco firm of Corlett and Spackman calls for a fee reduced from the normal 8 per cent to 6¾ per cent.

The reduction was made possible by partial re-use of plans for the original Wolfe School building, occupied about six weeks ago, Supt. Harold R. DePue said.

The architects' fee is based on the contractor's base bid plus alternates.

DePue said the architect had to redesign the lavatory unit and develop new plans for about 1,200-square feet of the 7,183 square feet in the total addition.

The plans are now being studied by the state Division of Architecture in Sacramento.

The addition will be located on the west side of the school site, adjacent to the parking area off McAlister avenue.

Turncoat Sent Back To Napa For 30 Days

LaRance V. Sullivan, 28, Korean War turncoat arrested on complaint of his grandmother in Marin City, was sent back to Napa State Hospital for another 30 days' observation after a sanity hearing in Marin Superior Court yesterday.

Judge Jordan L. Martinelli ncted that Sullivan has "far greater analytic powers than many others of his station." However, since doctors at Napa State Hospital suggested further confinement, the judge sent Sullivan back to the hospital and asked the doctors to provide more information.

Sullivan, accused by his grandmother of attacking her and shoving her down on a couch, was sent to Napa on Dec. 17. He had been committed three times previously for alcoholism at the request of his wife, Berniece, from whom he is now separated.

During the noon hearing yesterday, Sullivan's sisters and Rev. Samuel L. Banks of Marin City pleaded to have him freed on probation. Reverend Banks, who is also a landscaper, said he is willing to take Sullivan under his wing, give him a job and help him get a new lease on life. He said he believes the man is quite normal, but needs friends.

Sullivan complained he is "ostracized" by everyone who finds out he chose to live in Red China after his capture during the Korean War. He returned to Marin last June.

"People aren't apt to open their hearts to me, and sometimes their minds," he complained. He said the constant ridicule becomes oppressive. All he wants is to be treated like anyone else, he insisted.

"In other words, a 50-50 give and take—that's what you want, is that it?" the judge inquired.

"Well, yes," Sullivan replied.

"Even 45-55 wouldn't be bad," he added with a smile.

Mrs. Mary Bell Frost, his 80-year-old grandmother who had him committed to Napa for 72 hours observation, conceded that Sullivan has always been normal except for the one time that he returned home drunk and pushed her against the couch. She said the only reason she signed the commitment papers was to stop him from drinking. When she asked for his arrest, she claimed he attempted to choke her.

Sullivan was one of 21 American soldiers who chose Communism after their capture in Korea. He said he was disillusioned by Red China because their system of government "did not live up to what I expected."

Measles Again Tops Marin's Disease List

Measles persisted as Marin County's most widespread communicable disease with 25 new cases for the week which ended last Saturday, according to Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer.

But the number was cut by more than half from the total reported for the preceding week, when there were 58 cases in the county.

A large reduction also was noted in the number of new streptococcic infections. Last week only 14 new cases of such infections were reported, as compared with 39 in the preceding week, Doctor Albrecht said.

Mumps continued to be prevalent, with 24 cases reported last week, compared with 32 the week before.

Mill Valley, with 11 cases, and San Rafael, with eight, led the county in number of new measles cases. San Anselmo reported 14 cases of mumps, the largest concentration of that disease.

There were seven strep infections in Novato and five in San Rafael.

There also were two new cases of gonorrhea reported in Marin last week.

Holiday Weekend Traffic Toll Prediction Made

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Safety Council today said that 320 persons may die in traffic accidents over the three-day New Year's holiday weekend.

The council's statement came in the wake of the heavy traffic death toll over the Christmas weekend, which was below its pre-holiday estimate.

A final count showed that 493 persons were killed in traffic accidents in the 78-hour Christma holiday weekend—from 6 p.m. Thursday to midnight Sunday. The council had estimated a possible toll of 530.

DIGNITARIES' WORDS LOST

Heedless Pilot Ruins Big Moment For Nigerian TV

LAGOS, Nigeria (UPI)—A Nigerian pilot revved up his engine at the wrong time today and ruined a moment of history for Nigerian television.

The country's new television service had planned its first fullscale television coverage of a visit by a major dignitary—United Nations Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Things went along alright at the start.

Hammarskjold's plane landed on schedule from Lome, Togoland. Cameras whirred to record his first visit to Nigerian soil.

Minutes later, Nigerian Prime Minister Abubakar Balewa landed by plane from Kaduna so he could extend personal greetings to Hammarskjold.

Cameras whirred again, and things went fine.

Then both men stepped up to the microphones and in front of cameras to exchange words of goodwill for the nation's television audience.

As Balewa began speaking, the pilot of a plane not 50 yards away started his engine.

Balewa raised his voice. The plane's engine roared even louder.

Balewa paused, shot an inquiring glance toward airport officials, a withering glance toward the plane.

Stepping closer to the microphone, he continued to raise his voice. But by now he was completely inaudible.

Newsmen in the background rushed closer to hear him, obscuring the cameras. Camera crews rushed forward and tried to shove the reporters away.

Hammarskjold, meanwhile, stepped up to the microphone after Balewa finished. But the plane's screaming engine drowned him out, too.

No one was quite certain, but Balewa and Hammarskjold appeared to have exchanged pleasantries in the diplomatic tradition.

THIS MARE BELIEVES IN COMFORT

Caroli, 7-year-old mare belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Emanuelson of 767 McClay road, Novato, got swollen hooves. A veterinarian recommended soaking them in water. So the Emanuelsons fixed up a pool with a hitching rack in the back yard and tied Caroli to the rack to soak her feet. The mare soon decided that was too tiresome, so sat down to take her treatment in comfort, as shown in snapshot taken by her owners.

Tract Dispute In Mill Valley Finally Settled

A once-stirring controversy last night was settled apparently for all time when the Gomez tract in Mill Valley was excluded from the Almonte Sanitary District.

Manuel Gomez's tract near Tamalpais High School originally was in the district and outside Mill Valley city limits.

Gomez was successful in getting the area annexed to the city, and hooked to the sewers from the area into the city system. He refused to acknowledge the existence of the Almonte Sanitary District.

Directors of the district took a dim view of this attitude, and fireworks followed.

But now there is peace. According to district board chairman Jerome F. Downs, the matter was settled last night.

The district board agreed to exclude Gomez's tract from the sanitary district, with one string attached: Gomez will have to honor any present district indebtedness, such as payment for retirement of bonds.

Ross Sanitary District Offers Pact Revisions

Two revisions in a proposed contract for expansion of the Greenbrae sewage treatment plant were suggested to the Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night by directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District.

Under a 1949 contract, Corte Madera's sewage is processed at the plant, which the Ross Valley District owns.

A new agreement drafted by Ross Valley directors had defined the useful life of the plant as 20 years from the completion date of the proposed enlargement. The Corte Madera board had objected to the cutoff period.

As a compromise, Ross Valley directors last night agreed to re-define "useful life" as 30 years. They also agreed to include a provision for extension of the period "by mutual agreement" at the end of 30 years.

In a second offer, the Ross Valley board agreed to let the Corte Madera district expand the plant at its own expense at any time after completion of the initial enlargement project.

Corte Madera directors expect to discuss both proposals at their next regular meeting, Jan. 5.

A second meeting of the two boards was set for 8 p.m. Jan. 7, at the Ross Valley district office in San Anselmo, where last night's session was held.

By agreement reached last night, Corte Madera directors will prepare a definition of their district's boundaries for contractual purposes. And the Ross Valley board will try to determine the Corte Madera district's dollar share of the cost of plant expansion.

Plant capacity increment of one million gallons per day, proposed by Corte Madera directors in 1956 and included in the contract draft, also will be reviewed by the Ross Valley board in the light of Corte Madera's predicted population growth.

The present pact calls for delivery of a daily maximum of 175,000 gallons of Corte Madera sewage to the Greenbrae plant. That limit now is being exceeded by about two and one-half times.

Fusselman Almost Votes For Airport

Supervisor William D. Fusselman almost, but not quite, changed his "no" vote of last week on Novato Airport purchase to a "yes" vote today.

This came after Fusselman had painstakingly read the whole purchase-lease agreement, as amended to include changes agreed to last Tuesday by the four other supervisors.

Fusselman and the only two others present today for a short session, Chairman Walter R. Castro and Supervisor William A. Gnoss, agreed that the already approved changes had been properly made by Leland H. Jordan, county counsel.

But this time neither the seller, William Q. Wright, nor the airport committee were around. Last week, Wright, but not the committee, was present.

Fusselman asked if notice had been given. It appeared no notice had been sent out.

"If you'd notified those people, I'd have voted yes," said Fusselman. "As it is, nothing doing."

Fusselman added that Wright is "a shrewd businessman" in his estimation, but that the deal seemed all right.

STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market put on a late, mild rally today to close irregularly higher. Trading was fairly active in the final few minutes.

Volume for the day was estimated at three million shares compared with 2,830,000 yesterday.

Swings in both directions were held to fractions with the exception of a few issues.

Oils continued firm and motors turned mixed after being lower. Steels were weak with little sign of encouragement in the prolonged labor dispute. Nonferrous metals and mail order and retails firms held to the upside, while rubber shares were lower. Other groups showed a mixture of plus and minus signs.

BRIDGE

mountain, would be eliminated.

This center section would be paved and marked with traffic lines so that the motorists could fan out into four lanes in one direction before actually going onto the bridge.

Fifteen of the 18 traffic arches would be on the bridge itself according to bridge traffic engineer Arthur C. Jenkins. The other three would be on the Marin side.

The arches will probably be constructed of steel and aluminum, although the engineering firm has been given authority to recommend the type of material to be used.

An aluminum cross span would reach clear across the highway, as far as 125 feet in some instances.

The cross beam would carry red, green and yellow lights to control traffic in the two center lanes of the bridge. It would also carry facilities for installation of a closed-circuit television system by which the traffic sergeant could watch all sections of the bridge and its approaches from his office.

General manager James Adam estimated construction of the arches and installation of emergency call boxes along the span would cost between an $800,000 and a million dollars.

He estimated the cost of widening the Marin end of the bridge at between one million and one and a quarter million dollars.

Director Dan Del Carlo called the project "two of the most important steps we've taken since the construction of the bridge. They will improve the movement of traffic and will increase safety."

The bridge directors voted unanimously to sign the contract with Sverdrup and Parcel. At the same time they voted to transfer $235,000 to the reserve and depreciation reserve fund. The money was earmarker for the bridge's 10-million-dollar long-range development program, which has not yet been adopted by the board.

Board Accepts Subdivision Map

Final step in approval of the 106-acre, 163-lot Marin Golf and Country Club Estates 4 was taken by the Marin County Board of Supervisors today through acceptance of a tentative map of the project west of Ignacio.

The subdivider is Trousdale Construction Co. Endorsement of the Novato Chamber of Commerce was sent to the Marin County Planning Commission at the time its approval was granted last October.

B. D. Dobbs of the planning commission staff said all formalities are now out of the way and work on the subdivision can proceed.

Fifer Tract Approved In Corte Madera

The Corte Madera Planning Commission last night gave conditional approval to the tentative map of Fifer Industrial Park.

Principal condition among the 11 imposed was that one undersized lot be enlarged to the 40,000 square foot minimum required by the town subdivision ordinance for light industrial sites.

Another condition requires that the building line on two southerly lots be drawn 25 feet from the southerly boundary of the property. They are on either side of the Tamal Vista boulevard extension.

Looking to the future, Lawrence Livingston Jr., town planning consultant, suggested future eastward extension of Larkspur's William avenue to highway 101 along the south boundary of Fifer Park.

Chairman John Adlard said Livingston also recommended a "diamond" type traffic interchange where the Northwestern Pacific Railroad and Highway 101 service road now pass under the freeway. This would be contingent upon abandonment of the NWP line in that area.

The tentative map was submitted by Frank H. Deimel, property manager for owners Edward H. and May Marion Fifer of Kentfield.

A public hearing on zoning of Marin Country Day School property and adjacent lands on Paradise drive, east of 101, was continued by the commission to Jan. 11.

The mishap occurred on Bridgeway near the post office. Other details were not immediately available.

THIS MARE BELIEVES IN COMFORT

Caroli, 7-year-old mare belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Emanuelson of 767 McClay road, Novato, got swollen hooves. A veterinarian recommended soaking them in water. So the Emanuelsons fixed up a pool with a hitching rack in the back yard and tied Caroli to the rack to soak her feet. The mare soon decided that was too tiresome, so sat down to take her treatment in comfort, as shown in snapshot taken by her owners.

Ross Sanitary District Offers Pact Revisions

Two revisions in a proposed contract for expansion of the Greenbrae sewage treatment plant were suggested to the Corte Madera Sanitary District Board last night by directors of Ross Valley Sanitary District.

Under a 1949 contract, Corte Madera's sewage is processed at the plant, which the Ross Valley District owns.

Corte Madera directors expect to discuss both proposals at their next regular meeting, Jan. 5.

A second meeting of the two boards was set for 8 p.m. Jan. 7, at the Ross Valley district office in San Anselmo, where last night's session was held.

By agreement reached last night, Corte Madera directors will prepare a definition of their district's boundaries for contractual purposes. And the Ross Valley board will try to determine the Corte Madera district's dollar share of the cost of plant expansion.

Plant capacity increment of one million gallons per day, proposed by Corte Madera directors in 1956 and included in the contract draft, also will be reviewed by the Ross Valley board in the light of Corte Madera's predicted population growth.

The present pact calls for delivery of a daily maximum of 175,000 gallons of Corte Madera sewage to the Greenbrae plant. That limit now is being exceeded by about two and one-half times.

New Bicycles Require New Precautions By Parents

Many young boys and girls were made happy this year because Santa Claus brought them new bicycles. At the same time, those new bicycles will cause mothers and fathers hours of worry over the safety of their children.

And well they might. Marin County is no longer the quiet, sleepy community of a score years ago.

One of the greatest dangers, and one of the things that parents can do something about, is to not let the youngsters get out into the street until they have thoroughly learned to ride and—this is important — know the rules of safety both for a bicyclist and for other forms of traffic.

This is doubly important because today bicycles are being made so small that even pre-school children can now ride them. In some of our subdivisions, 4 and 5-year-olds can be seen riding in circles in the intersections or racing along the sidewalks and across a street without even a glance for their own safety.

Many schools and recreation departments have fine bicycle safety programs. But they can't reach the preschoolers, nor even all the children who go to school. Needed is an individual family responsibility for teaching a youngster the bicycle rules of the road.

Last year in the nation about 480 deaths and 30,000 injuries from autobicycle accidents were reported. California alone had nearly 4,000 youngsters either killed or injured.

Marin hasn't had a bicycle fatality for several years, but there have been a number of accidents with serious injury. Here, as elsewhere, major causes of accidents have included the inability to control the bicycle in an emergency because of excessive speed, carelessness and inattention at intersections, hanging onto a moving vehicle, absence of lights at night, overloaded bicycles, cutting in and out of traffic, and turning without warning or arm signals.

Young bicycle riders should know how to ride, how to ride safely, and how to make sure the bicycle is safe to ride upon. It's up to his family to make sure he does, so a merry Christmas present won't lead to heart-break.

Morning Cup Of Coffee

Now that winter has come to Marin and most of us are getting up in the dark, the delightful morning fragrance of brewing coffee wafting from the kitchen gives wings to spirits still caught in the web of Morpheus.

Coffee is our country's national pick-up drink and its pleasing qualities as a physical and mental stimulant have doubtless helped to shape our hard-working, aggressive, self-reliant character. Much of the best and worst sides of our national character might be attributed, at least in part, to caffeine.

As we grope for the razor and toothbrush in the electrically lighted dawn and smell the coffee perfume, we have no such thoughts. Instead, we concentrate on the job at hand and look forward to the first sip of the breakfast brew which will tighten us up, bolt us together for another day.

MAN WITH A MISSION

A conscientious public official was recently cited in a newspaper article as a "dedicated man with a sense of mission."

One of the highest tributes that can be paid to any person is to say that he is striving to fulfill a noble role in life.

The more you realize that you, too, are "a man with a mission," the more purpose and meaning you will bring into your own life.

The word "mission" comes from the Latin verb "mittere" which means "to send." The dictionary defines "mission" as a "definite task or errand, usually calling for performance in a combat area or enemy territory."

You personally have a "mission" in life. God has "sent" you into the world to fulfill some role in applying the law and order of heaven to every aspect of human life.

You have at least a minor share in the same mission Christ gave to His Apostles.

Yes, you are "a man with a mission."

"As the Father has sent Me, I also send you." (John 20:21)

Help me, O Lord, to fulfill the special role in life that You assigned to me alone.

Global Thinkers Have Capsuled The '50s; Here's A Homier View

NEW YORK (AP) — As the frantic 1950s draw to a fretful close, the pundits look back on this decade of doubt and try to explain its meaning to us.

We have read a number of their high-sounding reviews, and listened to others. They all did a good job of turning the pages of world history — that is, for a visitor from Mars.

But they seemed to miss a lot of those small personal details that made life in the last 10 years so meaningful to the man in the street.

After all, the fact that Africa erupted in revolution or the Soviet Union landed a rocket on the moon, does not impress many of us so much as the fact that we became middle-aged. We remember that in 1950 we still climbed the stairs two at a time, and realize at the dawn of 1960 that we now look around for an escalator. We don't even push as hard going through a revolving door.

Here are a few other things that made the 1950s memorable to many:

At the start of the decade there were few things you could buy with a penny, and at the end of the decade there were few things you could buy with a nickel.

The younger generation grew taller, and found they were making bus seats smaller.

Man learned to copy his caveman ancestors, and began cooking his meals in the back yard over a fire.

Woman went in for frozen foods, and learned how to start dinner with an ice pick instead of a can opener.

People built two-car garages — then started buying small cars that would fit into a doghouse.

Parents discovered it was easier to obey their children rather than to try to boss them.

It became possible to send a girl through college for only slightly more than it took for her grandfather to buy a 10-room house on a five-acre lot.

Television developed Westerns in which only the horses remained free of psychopathic symptoms.

THE MOVIES WENT outdoors. Drive-in theaters became the country's best known romance pits.

The cigarette and the full dinner plate, symbols of pleasure in earlier eras, became symbols of doom to many. Millions began filtering their smokes, counting their calories.

MEN WENT IN for the pencil-slim necktie and the slender silhouette. Women climbed briefly into something called "the sack," then climbed right out again amid national laughter.

Maritime Academy Becomes Credit To State's Educational Program

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One of California's outstanding ventures in the field of education is the California Maritime Academy, located at Morrow Cove, Vallejo. It is engaged in the process of turning out officers for the Merchant Marine.

The academy, which started in 1929, has assumed an international character over its 30 years of operation, according to the latest report of the state Department of Education, under whose supervision it functions.

THE REPORT states that a number of foreign countries have sought advice and information toward establishing similar institutions in their own countries. These include Japan, Sweden, Korea, Thailand, Denmark and Formosa.

The inquiries attest to the quality of graduates of the Academy, as some of the inquiring countries have been in the maritime business for centuries prior to establishment of the United States itself, like Sweden and Denmark.

REPORTS FROM the academy, which is headed by Henry E. Richter, retired captain of the United States Navy, indicate that high school, junior college and college graduates from nearly every state in the union have applied for information concerning the entrance requirements.

At the present time, there are 13 states represented in the academy's enrollment, and more states would be represented if the facilities were increased.

Gradually, the stae has recognized the need for turning out young men who are capable of entering the merchant marine as junior officers. Imports and exports continue to be a growing business, with world trade increasing by leaps and bounds.

SOME YEARS AGO, there was a move on foot to combine the education offered at the academy with the University of California, but this move was halted by the state Legislature, which decided the academy should be a separate institution.

Since that decision, and under the guiding hand of State Senator Luther E. Gibson of Solano County, the Legislature has made modest appropriations increasing the facilities at the academy.

At the present time, a $548,000 engineering building is under construction. Evidencing the up-to-dateness of the academy, the building is being designed so that it can be used eventually to instruct prospective officers in atomic ship propulsion, the newest thing in shipping.

THE ACADEMY is operated on a practical basis, with instruction in actual, as well as theoretical operation. It operates the ship "Golden Bear," a vessel owned by the United States government, but on loan to the academy.

This vessel makes a cruise annually to some part of the world, and students get first hand training in the operation and handling of a cargo vessel.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

A bulkhead line was approved by the U.S. Army Engineers in Sausalito which would enable that city to take a step towards having the federal government dredge and maintain a deep water channel in Richardson Bay to enhance Sausalito's commercial position.

County Superintendent of Schools Henry Greer announced the formation of a permanent "committee on school district organization." It would study needs of school districts, recommend changes in consolidation, unionization or other organization as it sees fit.

20 YEARS AGO

Dist. Atty. A. E. Bagshaw was elected first president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn. as 36 charter members met to complete organization.

Winnie Ruth Judd, twice escaped Phoenix trunk murderess, was captured in a telephone booth at a Yuma drugstore while attempting to telephone her husband in Los Angeles.

Judge Edward I. Butler of the Marin County Superior Court ordered an investigation of the ptomaine poisoning of nine inmates at the county jail because of improper food.

TRY AND STOP ME

BENNETT CERF

A Brooklynite, far from his native habitat, was climbing a mountain when an eagle overhead suddenly paused dramatically in its flight, and plummeted to the ground.

The Brooklyn boy rushed to where the huge bird had fallen, and found a proud hunter already on the spot, inspecting his prize. "Pretty good shot, hey?" smirked the hunter.

"Oh, I don't know, mister," shrugged the Brooklynite. "I think you just wasted a bullet. That boid woulda been kilt by the fall alone."

"Give me a well-rounded, melodic, rousing operetta any day," boomed the late Errol Flynn one evening — then added cautiously, "I refer, of course, to a telephone operetta."

Population Explosion Puts Marin Localities Onto The Defensive

That bang you just heard on the distant Marin horizon may have been gunfire.

But it will need a check-up to find out whether the natives are repelling boarders or just disputing among themselves.

Whatever the explosions are about, they basically center around a "population explosion" in which Marin County seems a prime target.

Everybody wants to come here and who can blame them? But we who are here already feel, understandably, that Marin County has the best so from now on there should be firmer control.

MOST FEEL that way, one might better say. Not everybody; for thar's gold in our Marin hills, multi-residentially developed.

My own wife is a prime exponent of the pro-status quo. When we venture abroad and she sees more bulldozers marring more hillsides she screams like an eagle.

"Make them stop it!" she demands. (I have refrained from telling her the difference between low-caliber reporters and big, powerful high-caliber editors, so she still has trusting faith in me, aside from household chores.)

HER ATTITUDE is no more straightforward than I've observed over Bolinas way, scene of the big hassle over apartment development for senior citizens. Those who don't want it say they'll fight to the death, but Bolinas is a region of rugged individuals and some think the project would bring in a lot of money and no need for more schools.

At a recent Bolinas public meeting one of the speakers said he'd be mighty surprised if his friends and neighbors could agree on the proposition that Sunday comes after Saturday.

Novato, the maybe-city-to-be, has even more hassles over more things, but disturbance of the status quo is the big general issue of course.

Novato's Rotary Club wants to provide a swimming pool gratis and everybody is for it, except everybody around where the pool may be is sure it ought to go somewhere else.

There is also the property owner just before the Planning Commission with land too valuable for single family residences as it is held for $10,000 an acre. But it turns out this price can't be had unless the population explosion is catered to by re-zoning into ground that can be used for apartment buildings.

THE PUZZLED planners don't want to change the zoning, but with such high valuation the land just grows weeds and nobody is happy.

Tiburon Peninsula is where the population explosion could really explode, but the local residents are united on keeping nature as is.

They have to man the barricades every day or two on the Tiburon Peninsula. Latest to come is a rezoning proposal of the plushiest possible sort involving 18 garden apartments costing $148,000 apiece, linked up with a $300,000 yacht harbor and figuring all told to bring in, with boats, a taxable investment total of $7,844,000.

NO DICE, say the local residents backed by the planners and the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan. What Tiburon wants and will fight for is the single residential way of life.

Everybody agrees that change must come and Bolinas can even pinpoint just how—through a new freeway type Shoreline Highway now in the works. But most want things to stand still just a little while so the whole dilemma can be thought over and figured out.

Meanwhile, the population keeps right on exploding. They talk about that too, but it's like the weather, nobody seems to do much.

DON'T EXPECT BIG CHANGE

Demos Will Attack Ike's Defense Budget

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — You can expect a strong Democratic attack on the President's defense budget next year, but don't be surprised if Congress accepts it without great change.

For one thing, the session beginnig Jan. 6 will be short because of the national political conventions, and Congress will be preoccupied with a host of other matters.

Secondly, consideration of the defense budget will coincide with preparations for a summit meeting. Congress will be under pressure to avoid rocking the Ship of State by substantially altering the President's military spending proposals.

FINALLY, opinions among the legislators are still so divided on basic defense issues that the chances of early agreement are slim.

The debate promises to be fierce, nonetheless, since Democrats are primed to argue that the Eisenhower Administration is once more proposing to gamble with the nation's security in the interests of balancing the budget.

The President's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is expected to provide for spending about 41 billion dollars on defense, or about the same as last year and this year. To remain within this ceiling while meeting constantly rising costs, each of the services has had to trim or eliminate some programs and forego others.

THE AIR FORCE, for example, has scrapped plans for the 2,000 m.p.h. F108 fighter-bomber and all but cancelled the concurrent program for the B70 "chemical bomber," a 50 million dollar plane slated to replace the sub-sonic B52 heavy bomber. These decisions apparently spell the end of efforts to develop faster manned aircraft.

That's not all, however. To get down to its 18 billion dollar limit, the Air Force is expected to slow down its purchases of the B58 medium bomber while at the same time retiring a good portion of its fleet of 1,200 B47s.

TAKEN TOGETHER, these steps have started talk of a "bomber gap" in addition to the "missile gap" that dominated the 1959 defense debate. Both terms spring from concern with the problem of maintaining an overpowering deterring force during a period when the Soviets are known to be leading the United States in arming themselves with intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Air Force cutbacks will be meat for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), one-time Air Force secretary, long-time critic of the Eisenhower Administration's defense policies, and now a Presidential aspirant. But the collective power of Congress to appraise the wisdom of the defense budget is circumscribed by its enormous compelxity and the sharp disagreements that prevail between the services.

ARMY AND NAVY commanders, for example, have argued that the United States already possesses more than enough strategic air power to deter any aggressor, but lacks sufficient force and mobility to cope with the more likely "brushfire" and limited war.

Whatever the truth of the matter, Congress gets little help from the Joint Chiefs, who are spokesmen first and foremost for their own services. This year, for the first time, the chiefs were given a chance to criticize the proposed budgets of the other services, but the final product was a long way from representing a truly joint judgment.

It became possible to send a girl through college for only slightly more than it took for her grandfather to buy a 10-room house on a five-acre lot.

Television developed Westerns in which only the horses remained free of psychopathic symptoms.

THE MOVIES WENT outdoors. Drive-in theaters became the country's best known romance pits.

The cigarette and the full dinner plate, symbols of pleasure in earlier eras, became symbols of doom to many. Millions began filtering their smokes, counting their calories.

MEN WENT IN for the pencil-slim necktie and the slender silhouette. Women climbed briefly into something called "the sack," then climbed right out again amid national laughter.

Maritime Academy Becomes Credit To State's Educational Program

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — One of California's outstanding ventures in the field of education is the California Maritime Academy, located at Morrow Cove, Vallejo. It is engaged in the process of turning out officers for the Merchant Marine.

The academy, which started in 1929, has assumed an international character over its 30 years of operation, according to the latest report of the state Department of Education, under whose supervision it functions.

THE REPORT states that a number of foreign countries have sought advice and information toward establishing similar institutions in their own countries. These include Japan, Sweden, Korea, Thailand, Denmark and Formosa.

The inquiries attest to the quality of graduates of the Academy, as some of the inquiring countries have been in the maritime business for centuries prior to establishment of the United States itself, like Sweden and Denmark.

REPORTS FROM the academy, which is headed by Henry E. Richter, retired captain of the United States Navy, indicate that high school, junior college and college graduates from nearly every state in the union have applied for information concerning the entrance requirements.

At the present time, there are 13 states represented in the academy's enrollment, and more states would be represented if the facilities were increased.

Gradually, the stae has recognized the need for turning out young men who are capable of entering the merchant marine as junior officers. Imports and exports continue to be a growing business, with world trade increasing by leaps and bounds.

SOME YEARS AGO, there was a move on foot to combine the education offered at the academy with the University of California, but this move was halted by the state Legislature, which decided the academy should be a separate institution.

Since that decision, and under the guiding hand of State Senator Luther E. Gibson of Solano County, the Legislature has made modest appropriations increasing the facilities at the academy.

At the present time, a $548,000 engineering building is under construction. Evidencing the up-to-dateness of the academy, the building is being designed so that it can be used eventually to instruct prospective officers in atomic ship propulsion, the newest thing in shipping.

THE ACADEMY is operated on a practical basis, with instruction in actual, as well as theoretical operation. It operates the ship "Golden Bear," a vessel owned by the United States government, but on loan to the academy.

This vessel makes a cruise annually to some part of the world, and students get first hand training in the operation and handling of a cargo vessel.

Christmas Aid Thrilled Youths

EDITOR,
Independent-Journal:

It has been the usual custom of the Gospel Fellowship Church youth department in its pre-Christmas work to campaign the community for such items that will be given for the unfortunate people.

Again this year the youth department was very successful in its purpose and many needy families were made merry.

This work was a great thrill to those young people.

Mrs. Helen Jackson, the supervisor of the youth department, is in charge of their great movement.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

A bulkhead line was approved by the U.S. Army Engineers in Sausalito which would enable that city to take a step towards having the federal government dredge and maintain a deep water channel in Richardson Bay to enhance Sausalito's commercial position.

County Superintendent of Schools Henry Greer announced the formation of a permanent "committee on school district organization." It would study needs of school districts, recommend changes in consolidation, unionization or other organization as it sees fit.

20 YEARS AGO

Dist. Atty. A. E. Bagshaw was elected first president of the Marin County Peace Officers Assn. as 36 charter members met to complete organization.

Winnie Ruth Judd, twice escaped Phoenix trunk murderess, was captured in a telephone booth at a Yuma drugstore while attempting to telephone her husband in Los Angeles.

Judge Edward I. Butler of the Marin County Superior Court ordered an investigation of the ptomaine poisoning of nine inmates at the county jail because of improper food.

TRY AND STOP ME

A Brooklynite, far from his native habitat, was climbing a mountain when an eagle overhead suddenly paused dramatically in its flight, and plummeted to the ground.

The Brooklyn boy rushed to where the huge bird had fallen, and found a proud hunter already on the spot, inspecting his prize. "Pretty good shot, hey?" smirked the hunter.

"Oh, I don't know, mister," shrugged the Brooklynite. "I think you just wasted a bullet. That boid woulda been kilt by the fall alone."

"Give me a well-rounded, melodic, rousing operetta any day," boomed the late Errol Flynn one evening — then added cautiously, "I refer, of course, to a telephone operetta."

Population Explosion Puts Marin Localities Onto The Defensive

That bang you just heard on the distant Marin horizon may have been gunfire.

But it will need a check-up to find out whether the natives are repelling boarders or just disputing among themselves.

Whatever the explosions are about, they basically center around a "population explosion" in which Marin County seems a prime target.

Everybody wants to come here and who can blame them? But we who are here already feel, understandably, that Marin County has the best so from now on there should be firmer control.

MOST FEEL that way, one might better say. Not everybody; for thar's gold in our Marin hills, multi-residentially developed.

My own wife is a prime exponent of the pro-status quo. When we venture abroad and she sees more bulldozers marring more hillsides she screams like an eagle.

"Make them stop it!" she demands. (I have refrained from telling her the difference between low-caliber reporters and big, powerful high-caliber editors, so she still has trusting faith in me, aside from household chores.)

HER ATTITUDE is no more straightforward than I've observed over Bolinas way, scene of the big hassle over apartment development for senior citizens. Those who don't want it say they'll fight to the death, but Bolinas is a region of rugged individuals and some think the project would bring in a lot of money and no need for more schools.

At a recent Bolinas public meeting one of the speakers said he'd be mighty surprised if his friends and neighbors could agree on the proposition that Sunday comes after Saturday.

Novato, the maybe-city-to-be, has even more hassles over more things, but disturbance of the status quo is the big general issue of course.

Novato's Rotary Club wants to provide a swimming pool gratis and everybody is for it, except everybody around where the pool may be is sure it ought to go somewhere else.

There is also the property owner just before the Planning Commission with land too valuable for single family residences as it is held for $10,000 an acre. But it turns out this price can't be had unless the population explosion is catered to by re-zoning into ground that can be used for apartment buildings.

THE PUZZLED planners don't want to change the zoning, but with such high valuation the land just grows weeds and nobody is happy.

Tiburon Peninsula is where the population explosion could really explode, but the local residents are united on keeping nature as is.

They have to man the barricades every day or two on the Tiburon Peninsula. Latest to come is a rezoning proposal of the plushiest possible sort involving 18 garden apartments costing $148,000 apiece, linked up with a $300,000 yacht harbor and figuring all told to bring in, with boats, a taxable investment total of $7,844,000.

NO DICE, say the local residents backed by the planners and the Tiburon Peninsula Master Plan. What Tiburon wants and will fight for is the single residential way of life.

Everybody agrees that change must come and Bolinas can even pinpoint just how—through a new freeway type Shoreline Highway now in the works. But most want things to stand still just a little while so the whole dilemma can be thought over and figured out.

Meanwhile, the population keeps right on exploding. They talk about that too, but it's like the weather, nobody seems to do much.

DON'T EXPECT BIG CHANGE

Demos Will Attack Ike's Defense Budget

By CONGRESSIONAL QUARTERLY

WASHINGTON — You can expect a strong Democratic attack on the President's defense budget next year, but don't be surprised if Congress accepts it without great change.

For one thing, the session beginnig Jan. 6 will be short because of the national political conventions, and Congress will be preoccupied with a host of other matters.

Secondly, consideration of the defense budget will coincide with preparations for a summit meeting. Congress will be under pressure to avoid rocking the Ship of State by substantially altering the President's military spending proposals.

FINALLY, opinions among the legislators are still so divided on basic defense issues that the chances of early agreement are slim.

The debate promises to be fierce, nonetheless, since Democrats are primed to argue that the Eisenhower Administration is once more proposing to gamble with the nation's security in the interests of balancing the budget.

The President's budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1 is expected to provide for spending about 41 billion dollars on defense, or about the same as last year and this year. To remain within this ceiling while meeting constantly rising costs, each of the services has had to trim or eliminate some programs and forego others.

THE AIR FORCE, for example, has scrapped plans for the 2,000 m.p.h. F103 fighter-bomber and all but cancelled the concurrent program for the B70 "chemical bomber," a 50 million dollar plane slated to replace the sub-sonic B52 heavy bomber. These decisions apparently spell the end of efforts to develop faster manned aircraft.

That's not all, however. To get down to its 18 billion dollar limit, the Air Force is expected to slow down its purchases of the B58 medium bomber while at the same time retiring a good portion of its fleet of 1,200 B47s,

TAKEN TOGETHER, these steps have started talk of a "bomber gap" in addition to the "missile gap" that dominated the 1959 defense debate. Both terms spring from concern with the problem of maintaining an overpowering deterring force during a period when the Soviets are known to be leading the United States in arming themselves with intercontinental ballistic missiles.

The Air Force cutbacks will be meat for Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.), one-time Air Force secretary, long-time critic of the Eisenhower Administration's defense policies, and now a Presidential aspirant. But the collective power of Congress to appraise the wisdom of the defense budget is circumscribed by its enormous compelxity and the sharp disagreements that prevail between the services.

ARMY AND NAVY commanders, for example, have argued that the United States already possesses more than enough strategic air power to deter any aggressor, but lacks sufficient force and mobility to cope with the more likely "brushfire" and limited war.

Whatever the truth of the matter, Congress gets little help from the Joint Chiefs, who are spokesmen first and foremost for their own services. This year, for the first time, the chiefs were given a chance to criticize the proposed budgets of the other services, but the final product was a long way from representing a truly joint judgment.

Great Bowl Lineup To Draw 500,000 Fans This Week

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

An estimated 500,000 fans and the nation's TV-quarterbacks will see college football ring in the New Year this week with one of the most attractive bowl programs in history.

Syracuse's meeting with Texas in the Cotton Bowl and Louisiana State's rematch with Mississippi in the Sugar Bowl top a menu of nine games between Thursday and Saturday. Syracuse, the only major team to go through the season unbeaten and untied, is defending its national championship against a once-beaten opponent. L.S.U. and Mississippi will replay the south's "game of the year" and the winner undoubtedly will claim the national title if Texas upsets Syracuse.

Syracuse is a 12-point choice and Mississippi a 6½ pick with Wisconsin a 6½-point choice over Washington in the Rose Bowl and Georgia an 11-point choice Orange Bowl favorite over Missouri in the "Big Four" of the Jan. 1 schedule.

The action begins on tomorrow when North Texas State (8-1) plays New Mexico State (7-3) in the Sun Bowl at El Paso, Tex., and winds up Saturday with the East-West Shrine Game at San Francisco and the Gator Bowl meeting between Arkansas (8-2) and Georgia Tech (6-4) at Jacksonville, Fla.

Syracuse is heavily favored on the strength of 10 straight victories during which it averaged 39 points a game and led the nation in virtually everything except untied shoelaces. The Orange's big line also paced the nation on defense—a key factor in the Cotton Bowl because the Texas offense is built chiefly on a running game.

L.S.U. beat Mississippi, 7-3, on an 89-yard punt return by Billy Cannon in the fourth period of their Oct. 31 regular-season game. But Mississippi seemed the stronger team at the close of the season and was ranked second in the nation while L.S.U. was rated third.

The biggest crowd of the week—100,000—will see Wisconsin (7-2) oppose Washington (9-1) in the Rose Bowl at Pasadena. And 78,000 will be on hand in the Orange Bowl at Miami, Fla., to watch Georgia (9-1) take on Missouri (6-4).

The Wisconsin - Washington match may be a passing duel between quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Bob Schloredt. Wisconsin lost the 1953 Rose Bowl game—only Big Ten team to lose to the West Coast representative since the beginning of the closed pact.

Georgia rolled to the Southeast Conference title with a 7-0 record while the experts were watching L.S.U. and Mississippi. Missouri drew the Big Eight's Orange Bowl bid because Oklahoma was ineligible to go for a second straight year.

Presbyterian (9-1) vs. Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wiley, (Neb.), also 8-2, round out the Jan. 1 card.

Cincinnati, W. Virginia, U.C. Top Hoop Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati, West Virginia and California—engaged in holiday basketball tournaments this week—ranked 1-2-3 today in United Press International's major college ratings.

All three won their first-round tourney games yesterday.

Cincinnati, competing in the holiday festival at New York, topped the ratings for the fourth straight week. The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams weekly for UPI gave Cincinnati 24 first-place votes and 326 points. The coaches based their votes on games played through last Saturday night.

West Virginia, entered in the current holiday tournament at Los Angeles, remained second with three first-place votes and 309 points. California, another entrant in the Los Angeles event, replaced Ohio State in third place with seven first-place votes and 277 points.

Ohio State, beaten last week by Utah for its first defeat of the campaign, slipped to fourth with the other first-place vote and 214 points. Utah advanced from sixth to fifth with 211 points.

Both teams lost yesterday, Ohio State dropping a 96-93 decision to 14th-ranked Kentucky, and Utah losing 63-52 to Duke.

St. Louis was sixth with 149, Bradley seventh with 67, Indiana eighth with 58, Illinois ninth with 52 and New York University 10th with 43.

Illinois, up from 17th, and N.Y.U., which advanced from 13th, were the newcomers in the top 10. They replaced Kansas, which slipped from ninth to 15th, and Georgia Tech, which dropped from eighth to 17th. St. Louis defeated Kansas last week while Georgia Tech bowed to Southern Methodist. Illinois lost to California last night, 62-48, while Indiana defeated Maryland, 72-63. N.Y.U. lost yesterday to Iowa, 80-75.

North Carolina headed the second 10 group for the second straight week. Texas A and M, Iowa, Kentucky, Kansas, Villanova, Georgia Tech, Duke, Southern California and Michigan State completed the first 20 in that order.

The experts all predict "The Stilt" will rewrite all existing records in the pro league. Bill Russell, Boston Celtic star, has been quoted in a recent article as saying: "Wilt Chamberlain is the best basketball player in the N.B.A. I must improve my game sharply if I want to be able to compete against him."

The tickets are priced at $3.50 for box seats, $3 and $2.50 for reserved sections, $2 for general admission. They will be on sale at Taveggia and Brusati Sporting Goods, 1340 Fourth street, San Rafael.

Candlestick Story Distorted; It's Truly A Beautiful Gem

HANLEY

Most reports about Candlestick Park recently have monotonously accentuated the negative. They have emphasized minor, unfinished items. The picture of Candlestick has been badly distorted.

We visited the park the other day for the first time. We were looking for faults. They had to be pointed out by an expert.

We were thrilled by Candlestick's beauty. It is a gem in the daytime. With the lights turned on at night, it will blaze brilliantly. It is the most magnificent park in the entire National League circuit.

We haven't the slightest doubt that fans by the Golden Gate, accustomed to naturally wondrous settings, will experience a feeling of pride when they first set foot in Candlestick.

The architect may have omitted a number of small details from his plans. But he missed nothing in the big picture of flowing, graceful construction.

Once before we had a genuine feeling of respect for an architect's genius. That was on our first visit to the beautiful Mexico City Stadium whose stands resemble gigantic butterfly wings.

CANDLESTICK, of course, is not contructed in this manner. The stands sweep in a big semi-circle. They are double-decked but not in the unimaginative way two slices of bread might be stacked one on the other. Candlestick's stands create the impression of a vast amphitheater.

Candlestick won't be as intimate and cozy as Seal's Stadium. But neither will its parking lot compare with the inadequate facilities at 16th & Bryant streets.

THE EASILY approached parking lot, with two roads leading in and two exit roads, will take 12,000 cars. This convenience alone more than counter-balances any advantage at the old ball park.

If the gates were thrown open tomorrow to the public, the general reaction would be: "What's all the fuss been about?" There certainly would be no complaint about the seats, comfortably form-fitting and posture-preserving, with plenty of leg room.

Unless it specifically was called to their attention, fans would not notice that a small strip outside the centerfield fence needs paving. They similarly would not notice that the turnstiles work only one way although the newer two-way type were ordered.

Their fascination with the new scoreboard, which will carry all results except who won the fifth at Hollywood Park, might cause them temporarily to overlook the one Seals Stadium feature that could not be incorporated in Candlestick — the cozy feeling of the old park.

CANDLESTICK'S first row of boxes along the baselines are twice the distance those of Seals Stadium were from the foul lines. Foul balls that landed in Seal's boxes will be in play at Candlestick.

However, even without that cozy feeling, Candlestick will be a pleasantly comfortable plant which should meet with the approval of the most critical fan.

It's a setting worthy of a pennant and world series.

Baltimore Colts' Official Collapses

BALTIMORE (AP)—Don Kellet, Baltimore Colts general manager and vice president who collapsed yesterday, was reported in satisfactory condition today

The 50-year-old Colt official was admitted to the hospital for treatment of what Dr. Erwin Mayer, team physician, described as "sheer exhaustion."

Mayer said Kellet collapsed in a taxicab taking him to a luncheon celebrating Sunday's 31-16 Colt victory over the New York Giants for the National Football League championship.

West Virginia Cal Tourney Clash Looms

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A rematch of last year's NCAA finals loomed as a possibility today as powerful California and West Virginia shrugged off first round opponents to gain access to the semi-finals of the Los Angeles Basketball Classic.

Undefeated California, led by Darrel Imhoff's 23 points, overwhelmed ragged Illinois, 62-48, last night, and West Virginia defeated Stanford, 66-47, behind the stellar scoring and all around play of All-American Jerry West.

In other first round action, UCLA walloped Michigan, 93-68, and USC blasted Northwestern, 91-62.

SEMI-FINALS

California meets USC this afternoon and West Virginia collides with UCLA tonight. The winners of the two games meet for the classic crown tomorrow. The co-favored Mountaineers and Bears are heavy favorites to meet in the final tussle.

In the consolation bracket, Michigan meets Stanford in the afternoon and Northwestern plays Illinois tonight.

Imhoff, the 6-foot, 10-inch center who led Cal to the NCAA championship last season, put on a tremendous scoring display before 10,835 fans in the new sports arena.

BALL HAWKS

When the huge cager slowed somewhat in the second half, Tendy Gillis and Bob Schultz took over and paced the Bears. Illinois, also undefeated going into last night's encounter, lost the ball numerous times to the ball hawking Bears and only guard Mannie Jackson could find the scoring range. He zeroed in and bucketed 17 points to lead the Illini in the scoring column.

In an afternoon encounter, West pulled together a scrambling West Virginia five and led them to a 19-point victory over Stanford. West, asserting his superiority on rebounds as well as scoring, led the Mountaineers with 27 points—hitting on 65 per cent of his field goal attempts.

WEST SIZZLES

Stanford led most of the first half and the score was knotted at 23 when the halftime buzzer sounded. West turned the tables in the second stanza, however, as he led a fast-breaking attack which broke the Indians' back.

West Virginia already has the Kentucky Invitational Tourney crown this season and seeks revenge for last spring's loss to California in the NCAA finals.

Southern Cal notched its sixth straight win

Writers Pick Huskies As Rose Bowl Winners

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A surprising tide of favoritism for the Washington Huskies cropped up today among members of the press corps here to cover the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

One poll of writers, television and radio men came out with 55 selecting Washington to win to 39 favoring Wisconsin, the Big Ten champion.

A less extensive poll came out 17-15 favoring Wisconsin. The Midwest voted solidly for the Badgers, the Northwest unanimously for Washington.

PROS DIFFER

Professional odds still favor Wisconsin by at least six points.

One-a-day workouts remained in effect for both squads today while Coach Milt Bruhn continued his barred-gate policy for all West Coast writers.

Big Jim Owens confided that he is feeling somewhat better over the condition of his Huskies and said "by game time I think we will be all right."

Bad weather at home, as well as a missed key workout here, hampered the Huskies' training program.

BADGERS READY

Bruhn apparently had no such concern.

"We are on schedule and I hope we will be ready to play a real fine football game New Year's Day," Bruhn observed.

Owens, asked about the mental attitude of his squad, answered:

"I definitely think we came down here to win this game."

The coaches were asked what type of game might await the fans—a low or high scoring contest.

Both said the early phases may be on the conservative side, each team feeling the other out.

"We may play it by ear for awhile, but it could break wide open," Owens said.

"We both are defensive minded to some extent," Owens went on, "But as for scoring, well, I couldn't predict about that."

Owens said a review of Wisconsin game movies convinced him the Badgers don't make mistakes.

Olson-Webb Fight Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bobo Olson and Spider Webb will tangle in a 10-round bout at the Cow Palace here Feb. 15, matchmaker Bennie Ford announced.

Olson, former middleweight champion and now a light heavyweight, has won five straight bouts on the comeback road. He lives in San Francisco.

Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer won a 15-round decision Dec. 4 in defending his title against Webb, of Chicago, at Logan, Utah.

The Cow Palace fight will not be televised.

Burford Named As Top Coast Gridder

PALO ALTO (AP)—Stanford's pass catching Chris Burford won the Glenn S. (Pop) Warner memorial award as the season's most valuable senior football player on the Pacific Coast.

The nation's leading collegiate receiver was picked today by sportswriters, sportscasters and coaches. Burford, a 6 foot 3, 200-pound end, was an all West Coast selection the past two seasons.

He caught 61 passes for 756 yards and six touchdowns this season. His 12 catches for 122 yards and a touchdown against California set a new major college single game record.

Burford, who recently signed a pro contract with the Dallas Texans of the new American Football League, is on the West Squad for the Jan. 2 Shrine game in San Francisco.

West Shrine Team Works In Secret

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—West Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist and his squad will plot secretly against the East today in preparing for the Shrine East-West football game here Saturday.

All except those closely associated with the team will be barred from the workouts for the next two days.

East Coach Duffy Daughterty of Michigan State announced contentedly that 245-pound tackle Lou Cordileone of Clemson had recovered from a virus and was back in the drills. But Duffy said he wasn't too pleased with an apparent letdown by others on the squad.

Ingo And Floyd Expected To Sign Jan. 10

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Promoter Jack Fugazy today set Jan. 10 as the target date for signing of formal contracts for the return heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in New York City next June.

Fugazy, member of the Roy Cohn group "Feature Sports Inc." which yesterday reached verbal agreement with Johansson on the bout, said the champion will meet with the group at the New York State Athletic Commission on Jan. 10.

"I hope time will be ripe then for the formal signing," said Fugazy.

Fugazy said the bout would be held between June 14 and June 27, with the exact date to be picked later.

Only the approval of the New York commission appears to be missing at the moment from the picture of a return bout and the Cohn group is confident that will be forthcoming.

U. S. Ski Jumpers Search For Snow

ISHPEMING, Mich. (AP)—The U. S. Olympic ski jumping team trekked here today in search of snow.

The team left Westby, Wis., yesterday in a rainstorm. Coach Lloyd (Snowball) Severud said if enough snow falls for the annual Westby Ski Club jumping meet next Sunday he will take his 16 Olympic squad candidates back to compete. Otherwise, he said, he will stay in northern Michigan.

Severud must trim his squad to eight to represent the United States in the winter games at Squaw Valley.

The Wisconsin - Washington match may be a passing duel between quarterbacks Dale Hackbart and Bob Schloredt. Wisconsin lost the 1953 Rose Bowl game—only Big Ten team to lose to the West Coast representative since the beginning of the closed pact.

Georgia rolled to the Southeast Conference title with a 7-0 record while the experts were watching L.S.U. and Mississippi. Missouri drew the Big Eight's Orange Bowl bid because Oklahoma was ineligible to go for a second straight year.

Presbyterian (9-1) vs. Middle Tennessee State (9-0-1) in the Tangerine Bowl at Orlando, Fla., and Prairie View A&M (8-2) vs. Wiley, (Neb.), also 8-2, round out the Jan. 1 card.

Cincinnati, W. Virginia, U.C. Top Hoop Ratings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Cincinnati, West Virginia and California—engaged in holiday basketball tournaments this week—ranked 1-2-3 today in United Press International's major college ratings.

All three won their first-round tourney games yesterday.

Cincinnati, competing in the holiday festival at New York, topped the ratings for the fourth straight week. The 35 leading coaches who rate the teams weekly for UPI gave Cincinnati 24 first-place votes and 326 points. The coaches based their votes on games played through last Saturday night.

West Virginia, entered in the current holiday tournament at Los Angeles, remained second with three first-place votes and 309 points. California, another entrant in the Los Angeles event, replaced Ohio State in third place with seven first-place votes and 277 points.

Ohio State, beaten last week by Utah for its first defeat of the campaign, slipped to fourth with the other first-place vote and 214 points. Utah advanced from sixth to fifth with 211 points.

Both teams lost yesterday, Ohio State dropping a 96-93 decision to 14th-ranked Kentucky, and Utah losing 63-52 to Duke.

St. Louis was sixth with 149, Bradley seventh with 67, Indiana eighth with 58, Illinois ninth with 52 and New York University 10th with 43.

Illinois, up from 17th, and N.Y.U., which advanced from 13th, were the newcomers in the top 10. They replaced Kansas, which slipped from ninth to 15th, and Georgia Tech, which dropped from eighth to 17th. St. Louis defeated Kansas last week while Georgia Tech bowed to Southern Methodist. Illinois lost to California last night, 62-48, while Indiana defeated Maryland, 72-63. N.Y.U. lost yesterday to Iowa, 80-75.

North Carolina headed the second 10 group for the second straight week. Texas A and M, Iowa, Kentucky, Kansas, Villanova, Georgia Tech, Duke, Southern California and Michigan State completed the first 20 in that order.

The tickets are priced at $3.50 for box seats, $3 and $2.50 for reserved sections, $2 for general admission. They will be on sale at Taveggia and Brusati Sporting Goods, 1340 Fourth street, San Rafael.

Candlestick Story Distorted; It's Truly A Beautiful Gem

HANLEY

Most reports about Candlestick Park recently have monotonously accentuated the negative. They have emphasized minor, unfinished items. The picture of Candlestick has been badly distorted.

We visited the park the other day for the first time. We were looking for faults. They had to be pointed out by an expert.

We were thrilled by Candlestick's beauty. It is a gem in the daytime. With the lights turned on at night, it will blaze brilliantly. It is the most magnificent park in the entire National League circuit.

We haven't the slightest doubt that fans by the Golden Gate, accustomed to naturally wondrous settings, will experience a feeling of pride when they first set foot in Candlestick.

The architect may have omitted a number of small details from his plans. But he missed nothing in the big picture of flowing, graceful construction.

Once before we had a genuine feeling of respect for an architect's genius. That was on our first visit to the beautiful Mexico City Stadium whose stands resemble gigantic butterfly wings.

CANDLESTICK, of course, is not contructed in this manner. The stands sweep in a big semi-circle. They are double-decked but not in the unimaginative way two slices of bread might be stacked one on the other. Candlestick's stands create the impression of a vast amphitheater.

Candlestick won't be as intimate and cozy as Seal's Stadium. But neither will its parking lot compare with the inadequate facilities at 16th & Bryant streets.

THE EASILY approached parking lot, with two roads leading in and two exit roads, will take 12,000 cars. This convenience alone more than counter-balances any advantage at the old ball park.

If the gates were thrown open tomorrow to the public, the general reaction would be: "What's all the fuss been about?" There certainly would be no complaint about the seats, comfortably form-fitting and posture-preserving, with plenty of leg room.

Unless it specifically was called to their attention, fans would not notice that a small strip outside the centerfield fence needs paving. They similarly would not notice that the turnstiles work only one way although the newer two-way type were ordered.

Their fascination with the new scoreboard, which will carry all results except who won the fifth at Hollywood Park, might cause them temporarily to overlook the one Seals Stadium feature that could not be incorporated in Candlestick — the cozy feeling of the old park.

CANDLESTICK'S first row of boxes along the baselines are twice the distance those of Seals Stadium were from the foul lines. Foul balls that landed in Seal's boxes will be in play at Candlestick.

However, even without that cozy feeling, Candlestick will be a pleasantly comfortable plant which should meet with the approval of the most critical fan.

It's a setting worthy of a pennant and world series.

Baltimore Colts' Official Collapses

BALTIMORE (AP)—Don Kellet, Baltimore Colts general manager and vice president who collapsed yesterday, was reported in satisfactory condition today

The 50-year-old Colt official was admitted to the hospital for treatment of what Dr. Erwin Mayer, team physician, described as "sheer exhaustion."

Mayer said Kellet collapsed in a taxicab taking him to a luncheon celebrating Sunday's 31-16 Colt victory over the New York Giants for the National Football League championship.

West Virginia Cal Tourney Clash Looms

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A rematch of last year's NCAA finals loomed as a possibility today as powerful California and West Virginia shrugged off first round opponents to gain access to the semi-finals of the Los Angeles Basketball Classic.

Undefeated California, led by Darrel Imhoff's 23 points, overwhelmed ragged Illinois, 62-48, last night, and West Virginia defeated Stanford, 66-47, behind the stellar scoring and all around play of All-American Jerry West.

In other first round action, UCLA walloped Michigan, 93-68, and USC blasted Northwestern, 91-62.

SEMI-FINALS

California meets USC this afternoon and West Virginia collides with UCLA tonight. The winners of the two games meet for the classic crown tomorrow. The co-favored Mountaineers and Bears are heavy favorites to meet in the final tussle.

In the consolation bracket, Michigan meets Stanford in the afternoon and Northwestern plays Illinois tonight.

Imhoff, the 6-foot, 10-inch center who led Cal to the NCAA championship last season, put on a tremendous scoring display before 10,835 fans in the new sports arena.

BALL HAWKS

When the huge cager slowed somewhat in the second half, Tendy Gillis and Bob Schultz took over and paced the Bears. Illinois, also undefeated going into last night's encounter, lost the ball numerous times to the ball hawking Bears and only guard Mannie Jackson could find the scoring range. He zeroed in and bucketed 17 points to lead the Illini in the scoring column.

In an afternoon encounter, West pulled together a scrambling West Virginia five and led them to a 19-point victory over Stanford. West, asserting his superiority on rebounds as well as scoring, led the Mountaineers with 27 points—hitting on 65 per cent of his field goal attempts.

WEST SIZZLES

Stanford led most of the first half and the score was knotted at 23 when the halftime buzzer sounded. West turned the tables in the second stanza, however, as he led a fast-breaking attack which broke the Indians' back.

West Virginia already has the Kentucky Invitational Tourney crown this season and seeks revenge for last spring's loss to California in the NCAA finals.

Southern Cal notched its sixth straight win

Writers Pick Huskies As Rose Bowl Winners

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A surprising tide of favoritism for the Washington Huskies cropped up today among members of the press corps here to cover the Rose Bowl New Year's Day.

One poll of writers, television and radio men came out with 55 selecting Washington to win to 39 favoring Wisconsin, the Big Ten champion.

PROS DIFFER

Professional odds still favor Wisconsin by at least six points.

One-a-day workouts remained in effect for both squads today while Coach Milt Bruhn continued his barred-gate policy for all West Coast writers.

Big Jim Owens confided that he is feeling somewhat better over the condition of his Huskies and said "by game time I think we will be all right."

Bad weather at home, as well as a missed key workout here, hampered the Huskies' training program.

BADGERS READY

Bruhn apparently had no such concern.

"We are on schedule and I hope we will be ready to play a real fine football game New Year's Day," Bruhn observed.

Owens, asked about the mental attitude of his squad, answered:

"I definitely think we came down here to win this game."

The coaches were asked what type of game might await the fans—a low or high scoring contest.

Both said the early phases may be on the conservative side, each team feeling the other out.

"We may play it by ear for awhile, but it could break wide open," Owens said.

"We both are defensive minded to some extent," Owens went on, "But as for scoring, well, I couldn't predict about that."

Owens said a review of Wisconsin game movies convinced him the Badgers don't make mistakes.

Olson-Webb Fight Slated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Bobo Olson and Spider Webb will tangle in a 10-round bout at the Cow Palace here Feb. 15, matchmaker Bennie Ford announced.

Olson, former middleweight champion and now a light heavyweight, has won five straight bouts on the comeback road. He lives in San Francisco.

Middleweight Champion Gene Fullmer won a 15-round decision Dec. 4 in defending his title against Webb, of Chicago, at Logan, Utah.

The Cow Palace fight will not be televised.

Burford Named As Top Coast Gridder

PALO ALTO (AP)—Stanford's pass catching Chris Burford won the Glenn S. (Pop) Warner memorial award as the season's most valuable senior football player on the Pacific Coast.

The nation's leading collegiate receiver was picked today by sportswriters, sportscasters and coaches. Burford, a 6 foot 3, 200-pound end, was an all West Coast selection the past two seasons.

He caught 61 passes for 756 yards and six touchdowns this season. His 12 catches for 122 yards and a touchdown against California set a new major college single game record.

Burford, who recently signed a pro contract with the Dallas Texans of the new American Football League, is on the West Squad for the Jan. 2 Shrine game in San Francisco.

West Shrine Team Works In Secret

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—West Coach Bill Meek of Southern Methodist and his squad will plot secretly against the East today in preparing for the Shrine East-West football game here Saturday.

All except those closely associated with the team will be barred from the workouts for the next two days.

East Coach Duffy Daughterty of Michigan State announced contentedly that 245-pound tackle Lou Cordileone of Clemson had recovered from a virus and was back in the drills. But Duffy said he wasn't too pleased with an apparent letdown by others on the squad.

Ingo And Floyd Expected To Sign Jan. 10

STOCKHOLM (UPI)—Promoter Jack Fugazy today set Jan. 10 as the target date for signing of formal contracts for the return heavyweight championship bout between Ingemar Johansson and Floyd Patterson in New York City next June.

Fugazy, member of the Roy Cohn group "Feature Sports Inc." which yesterday reached verbal agreement with Johansson on the bout, said the champion will meet with the group at the New York State Athletic Commission on Jan. 10.

"I hope time will be ripe then for the formal signing," said Fugazy.

Fugazy said the bout would be held between June 14 and June 27, with the exact date to be picked later.

Only the approval of the New York commission appears to be missing at the moment from the picture of a return bout and the Cohn group is confident that will be forthcoming.

U. S. Ski Jumpers Search For Snow

ISHPEMING, Mich. (AP)—The U. S. Olympic ski jumping team trekked here today in search of snow.

The team left Westby, Wis., yesterday in a rainstorm. Coach Lloyd (Snowball) Severud said if enough snow falls for the annual Westby Ski Club jumping meet next Sunday he will take his 16 Olympic squad candidates back to compete. Otherwise, he said, he will stay in northern Michigan.

Severud must trim his squad to eight to represent the United States in the winter games at Squaw Valley.

ICE HOUSE — This was the chilly sight which greeted the Frank Lehto family when they returned from a holiday trip to their Grand Marais, Minn., home. GALE-LASHED SEAS MAROON HUNDREDS

New England Reels Under Blows Of Winds, Snow And Sleet Storm

COMBINED AP & UPI

A savage snow and sleet storm accompanied by gale-force winds lashed New England today, dumping more than a foot of snow in some sections and leaving hundreds marooned by flood waters.

More than 12 inches of snow had fallen in southern Maine, New Hampshire and Vermont by 11 a.m. EST and at least four more inches were predicted.

While the snow blanketed northern New England, gale-lashed seas spilled onto coastal areas, marooning at least a hundred families in Maine and Massachusetts.

FAMILIES CUT OFF

At Kennebunkport, Maine, about 80 families were reported cut off from the mainland after a flood tide surged over two bridges.

Scores of families were marooned in the Massachusetts seaside town of Hull.

Seas lashed by gale-force winds crashed over sea walls in numerous Maine communities. Roads and cellars were flooded.

Elsewhere in the Northeast, the onslaught of snow, sleet and freezing rain disrupted communications and blacked out thousands of homes.

WORST IN 30 YEARS

In upper New York state, the sleet storm was described as the worst in 30 years. The Buffalo area was hardest hit. Ice piled up on wires until they cracked and utility men said it would be days before full service is restored.

Storms in the Midwest, however, appeared diminishing.

Only light snow and snow mixed with rain fell in the upper Mississippi Valley and the Great Lakes region.

As the snow abated in the Midwest, many highways and roads remained clogged with snow, leaving hundreds of motorists stranded. Blowing and drifting snows hampered snow removal operations.

The stormy, windy weather across most areas from the Plains to New England has caused widespread damage and inconvenience to millions since Christmas.

At least nine deaths were attributed to the storms. Traffic accidents on ice or snow-slicked highways killed three persons in Maine and two each in Kansas, Wisconsin and Iowa.

Driving conditions throughout the belt of snow, rain and sleet were extremely hazardous.

Fog which shrouded most of the East Coast paralyzed air and ship travel and snarled traffic.

Strontium Level Not Dangerous

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The U. S. Public Health Service reported today that the strontium 90 level in the nation's major rivers and lakes continues "far below" the danger point.

The health service made public its radiation measurements taken weekly at 51 stations on 71 major water courses as part of a stream pollution survey.

None of the figures were near the strontium 90 level of 80 micromicrocuries per litre considered to be permissable for lifetime exposure by the National Committee on Radiation Protection.

Fortner Boy's Hearing Delayed Until Jan. 8

Clifford Fortner, 15-year-old Kentfield boy who admitted slaying 12-year-old Lorna Lax last month, will not get a hearing until next year.

The hearing, originally set for this week, has been postponed until Jan. 8, Chief Probation Officer Walter Busher said today. This will give doctors and the probation officer more time to examine the boy and prepare their detailed reports.

At the Jan. 8 hearing Juvenile Judge Thomas F. Keating of Marin Superior Court will decide whether the boy is a fit subject for juvenile court proceedings. If he finds the boy should be handled as a juvenile, on the basis of recommendations of the probation officer and doctors, the judge will then decide what to do with the youngster. If the judge finds otherwise, young Fortner will have to stand trial in superior court.

Man On Bridge Talked Out Of Plan To Jump

Morbidly fascinated by the thought of ending a long illness through death from the Golden Gate Bridge, a 60-year-old man drove from near Sacramento yesterday and stood poised for a leap near the north tower—then, the spell broken, he drew back.

Ernest Otto Gross of Citrus Heights, railroad engineer for the Southern Pacific Co., stopped his car on the bridge and climbed over the rail to "look it over," he later told the California Highway Patrol.

Harry Wolford of 58 Maple avenue, Fairfax, bridge tow truck driver, and R. E. Mullins of 1449 Redwood highway, Corte Madera, maintenance supervisor, spied him and began to talk.

Gross told them he was without family, that he had been ill, and that he intended to jump. But finally, after Wolford said that "your life is precious because without it you'd be dead," he consented to climb back with aid from the two men.

The highway patrol turned Gross over to the San Francisco Hospital psychiatric ward.

Drunken Drivers Learn Penalties

Four drunken drivers drew fines, probation and restriction of driving privileges yesterday in Marin Municipal Court before Judge Harold J. Haley.

Mrs. Roberta Jeanne Ramsey, 41, of 43 Kent avenue, Kentfield, was fined $200 and placed on 10 months probation. Mrs. Ramsey was arrested on Highway 101 on Dec. 19.

Lloyd Edward Johnson, 34, of San Francisco drew nine months probation and a $250 fine. He lost his driving privileges for three months. Johnson was caught on Center boulevard in San Anselmo on Dec. 20.

Jack Leon Mortensen, 47, of Petaluma was fined $200 and must remain on probation for one year. For the next three months he may drive only for work between 6 a.m. and 7 a.m. He was caught on Highway 101 on Christmas Eve.

Charles Pallavicini, 52, of 24 Florence avenue, San Anselmo, must pay a $250 fine and remain on nine months' probation. He was arrested on Center street in San Anselmo on Christmas Eve.

PROCESS CHANGE

County Paper Work Costs Rise Sharply

Marin County officialdom seems, at an offhand glance, to be neck deep in suddenly increased paper work.

County Administrator Donald A. Jensen reported to the Marin County Board of Supervisors that "Central Service work hit a new peak in November (with) $1,194 worth of unprinted paper issued from the warehouse, almost double the expectation."

A check disclosed, however, that 224 reams were issued as against a nexpectation of 200.

"It was the dollar value that doubled," said Jensen after a check-up.

More expensive paper was obtained because of a change in reproductive processing in certain departments, he explained.

The administrator's office uses a relatively cheap paper for a type of reproduction suited to typed material. But the county clerk, county counsel and medical department had received the supervisors' permission to change to another process which will reproduce pencil or ink notes along with the typing. Paper for this runs into more money.

There was also a boost in cost of multilithing, with $1,122 worth amounting to almost 50 per cent above forecast.

Jensen found that this was because of special demands such as envelopes for the auditor, reproductions of a civil defense plan, new property forms for the assessor, subpoenas and probation office forms.

Ex-Manager Of Gym Fined $250 In Court

Milton Humphreys, 38, former manager of Vic Tanny Gym in San Rafael, must pay a $250 fine and make restitution to two women clients who said they were misled by Humphreys' sales pitch.

Humphreys, convicted of two counts of petty theft, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Robert J. Duggan of El Cerrito, sitting in Marin Municipal Court. The judge granted one year probation on condition Humphreys pays the fine and makes restitution. Judge Duggan explained that restitution means returning the contracts and fees to the two women clients.

Humphreys immediately served notice he would appeal the decision to Marin Superior Court. The judge suspended execution of the sentence pending the appeal.

Mrs. Ina Dorrell and Mrs. Ola Landers, both of San Rafael, said they were induced to sign for gym workouts last summer because the manager promised to cure their physical ailments.

More expensive paper was obtained because of a change in reproductive processing in certain departments, he explained.

The administrator's office uses a relatively cheap paper for a type of reproduction suited to typed material. But the county clerk, county counsel and medical department had received the supervisors' permission to change to another process which will reproduce pencil or ink notes along with the typing. Paper for this runs into more money.

There was also a boost in cost of multilithing, with $1,122 worth amounting to almost 50 per cent above forecast.

Jensen found that this was because of special demands such as envelopes for the auditor, reproductions of a civil defense plan, new property forms for the assessor, subpoenas and probation office forms.

Ex-Manager Of Gym Fined $250 In Court

Milton Humphreys, 38, former manager of Vic Tanny Gym in San Rafael, must pay a $250 fine and make restitution to two women clients who said they were misled by Humphreys' sales pitch.

Humphreys, convicted of two counts of petty theft, was sentenced yesterday by Judge Robert J. Duggan of El Cerrito, sitting in Marin Municipal Court. The judge granted one year probation on condition Humphreys pays the fine and makes restitution. Judge Duggan explained that restitution means returning the contracts and fees to the two women clients.

Humphreys immediately served notice he would appeal the decision to Marin Superior Court. The judge suspended execution of the sentence pending the appeal.

Mrs. Ina Dorrell and Mrs. Ola Landers, both of San Rafael, said they were induced to sign for gym workouts last summer because the manager promised to cure their physical ailments.

Lovely Young Ladies Bow At '59 Cotillion

Two lovely Marin County girls and two others, who are members of old and prominent clans here, made their debuts at last night's 1959 Cotillion at the Sheraton-Palace in San Francisco.

Among the 35 debutantes were Julie Bridgman, daughter of the John Bridgmans of Belvedere, Polly Lombardi, daughter of the Oliver Lombardis of San Rafael, Sally Page, daughter of the John Randolph Pages of San Francisco and granddaughter of Mrs. Harry D. Johnson of San Rafael and Melinda Menzies, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Menzies of San Francisco. Robert H. Menzies of San Rafael is Melinda's grandfather.

Julie was escorted by Sally's cousin, Richard Guggenhime Jr. Polly's partner was Pierce Brownell. Sally was squired by Stephen S. Mayne and Robert Woodward Jr. escorted Melinda.

Elaborate was the 18th Century decor for the Cotillion. The over-all color theme of blue, gold and white was designed by Antonio Sotomayor. A mural of feathers and shells was behind the dais where the debutantes parents and grandparents sat. Brilliant color was provided by five rich tapestries by Gobelin.

And following a tradition of many years standing, Percy King introduced the debutantes by saying, "I have the honor to present the debutantes of 1959." As each young lady was presented, she was given her Cotillion favor, a white lace fan, and for her escort there was a black cane with sparkling knob.

The white gowned debs appeared first in the Garden Court on a stage transformed into an 18th Century garden. In the Rose and Concert Rooms, the second presentation was made by Warren Howell.

Under the direction of Mr. King, the debs and their escorts danced the formal and delightful Cotillion measures and then the girls and their fathers danced the first waltz. After that the dancing was general. The Grill, where the buffet supper was served, was festive. Exquisite ice carvings were on the long tables which were covered with green cloths. Pink tapers in gold candelabra completed the decor.

Three MV Girl Scout Troops Give Park Beauty Treatment

Mill Valley has long been known for its efforts to conserve its natural beauties, but when even children take up the cause on their own initiative—that is news.

Thanks to three Girl Scout troops, the Old Mill Park in Mill Valley is getting a clean-up and beauty treatment.

It all happened like this. When the girls of Troop No. 291 with their leaders, Mrs. John Beck and Mrs. Bert Stocking, held a treasure hunt in the park recently, they found it in bad condition with bottles and trash of all kinds thrown everywhere.

Then Lynn Stenros had the idea that the girls could help by devoting one morning a week—on Saturday—to clean-up activities. Upon hearing of the plan two other Mill Valley Troops, No. 88, whose leaders are Mesdames Richard Weeder, Wayne Bingham and V. B. Norush, and Toop 218, led by Mesdames Albert Couderc and Richard Graves, wanted to help.

On Dec. 5 the three troops met and decided that each would devote one Saturday a month to the project. Mrs. Francis Postel, as representative in charge of park beautification of the Mill Valley Parks and Recreation Commission, attended the meeting and approved the plan, and a letter was sent by the commission to each troop expressing appreciation.

In addition to picking up debris and depositing it in receptacles, the girls also made signs requesting cooperation of the public with their efforts to keep the park clean.

As a reward for their industry the girls' work will count toward requirements for second class rank or for the "My Community" badge under points 5 and 10.

Point 5 suggests — "Check your town for examples of how public property has been damaged or misused. Discuss with your troop what can be done to prevent this misuse."

Point 10 suggests—"Select one thing which would make your community a nicer place in which to live. Discover why it has not been done, how it could be done, and try to do something about it."

Language Is Simple For Third Graders

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—Teaching the three R's in two languages no longer is a novelty in elementary schools.

The foreign language center, founded last July as a clearing house for information on language study, estimates there are about 750-thousand children in grades three through six receiving lessons in Franch, Spanish, Italian, German, or even Russian. About 500 communities have a second language program for the grades, compared with 89 in 1952, says Donald Walsh, center director.

Walsh, who is on leave from Choate School in Connecticut, said that within a few weeks the Center hoped to circulate questionnaires in every school district in the nation to find who "is studying language, what language, in what grades, and the number enrolled." The study would be made under provisions of the national defense education act.

Most programs, he said, begin the second language studies in the third grade—"where any language is simple.

"Of course they don't begin with vocabulary and sentence structure; that comes later, after the children have gotten into grammar. But they learn in a situation . . . kids invent language anyway, you know. And the fidelity of their accent is wonderful."

"The young are not self-conscious," said Walsh, in an interview. "Adolescence is the worst time in the world to begin the second language. The child is self-conscience. He is afraid he will make a fool of himself.

"He can imitate easily when he is nine or 10 . . . at that age, he hasn't decided that everything has to sound like English. Bread can just as well be called 'pain' (French)"

One of the first school systems to begin language at the grade level is Somerville, N. J., where elective classes in Spanish and French from the third grade up have been offered since 1949.

Doris Chamberlain, a teacher for 25 years and chairman of the city's foreign language department, said children "soak up" another language when started early. "And by the time they're through high school," she said, "they've had at least nine years in one foreign language. They're ready to start another."

Not all educators agree with Walsh, Miss Chamberlain or other teachers who head similar programs in such communities as Hackensack, N. J., Glastonbury, Conn., and El Paso, Tex.

New York City schools have a program for gifted children. But Dr. J. Wayne Wrightstone, director of education research, said that children of average I.Q. "by and large cannot handle this additional load."

Walsh said that schools inaugurating foreign language courses in all cases had had full support of parents and P-TA but "often have run into opposition from school boards because hiring good teachers costs money."

"And good language teachers," he added, "are the biggest bottleneck."

It was fashioned with long sleeves, round neckline and butterfly bustle bow for back interest. The full skirt was appliqued with lace and pearls and extended into a cathedral length train. Her veil of tulle fell from a half moulded petal cap of pearl sequins and seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white orchids.

Joan Marie Beretta of Albany was maid of honor for her sister. She wore a gown of emerald green satin fashioned with scoop neckline and short fitted sleeves. The skirt featured a draped panel. She wore a headdress of emerald green silk net over a doubled bow. She carried a bouquet of pink orchids.

The bridesmaids were gowned in purple satin dresses styled like the maid of honor's. They included Mary Ann Gabel, Barbara Jean Beretta, the bride's sister, and Betty Beretta, the bride's cousin, Joan Strohmeier and Mrs. Barbara Seeba.

Kathy Bourdon was flower girl and Master Rourke O'Flaherty was ring bearer. Patrick O'Flaherty was altar boy.

Bernard Schneider of San Francisco was best man and ushers were Richard Seeba, James Brown, Ronald Bourdon, Jack Spaargaren and Richard Leon.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Beretta wore a royal blue sheath with matching accessories and white gloves. Her flowers were dendrobium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom wore a dress of lavender Chantilly lace with black accessories. She had a cattleya orchid.

Rock Ridge Women's Club in Berkeley was the site for the reception for 300 guests.

For a wedding trip to Yosemite, the bride chose a red wool crepe sheath with black accessories and fur muff. She had a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from St. Joseph High School in Berkeley and attended the University of San Francisco. She is employed with the American Trust Co.

The bridegroom was graduated from Riordan School and the University of San Francisco. He is a member of the Irish Club. He is employed with Lockheed Aircraft's Missilistic Division and is attending Stanford Unversity.

Liebermans Entertain University Students

Distinguished artists and students from Burma and Israel were among the guests at a pre-Christmas party at the Belvedere home of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Lieberman.

Ben Shan, internationally known artist and number one contemporary artist in the United States attended, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Abby who is a student at Reed College. Mrs. Shan is a well-known artist herself and illustrates for such magazines as Harpers and Scientific American under the name of Bernarda Bryson. The Shan family is enroute from their home in Roosevelt, N. J., to Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asia on a cultural mission. Shan's paintings are exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum and his work will shortly be exhibited in Russia.

Another artist attending was David Stone-Martin of San Francisco with Mrs. Stone-Martin.

Invited to attend from universities around the Bay Area were students from Burma and Israel who are here from their native countries studying various subjects. Typical was Miss Lily Verma who will receive her doctorate in agricultural economics and return to Burma in June where she plans to teach in a university.

A native of Mandalay, Tin Aung, is also working on his doctorate at Cal in physics. While in the States he has visited 26 states and has attended both the University of Kansas and the University of Wisconsin.

Tin U is observing various phases of life in the United States. He has spent three months at the University of Southern California and soon will go to Pennsylvania to study the community phase of our culture. His special interest is administration and supervision of secondary schools and when he returns he will be a district education officer.

Thet Tun is taking his master's degree in engineering and will reutrn to Burma as a nuclear engineer.

Moshe Gucovsky will also receive a PhD in agricultal economics from U.C. He then plans to work in Negev, the southern part of Israel which is semi-arid.

The host for the afternoon, Lieberman is a consulting engineer on water resources. During 1956 he was asked by the government of Thailand to look for water. By using American equipment and with the support of the American government wells were drilled and clear spring water located. The project was turned over to the Thai navy and Lieberman went on to Burma.

From 1957 to 1959 he was a consultant to the Burmese government. While there an important dam broke and Lieberman helped rebuild it.

From their sojourn in these countries stems the Liebermans' interest in foreign students.

Thomas Brown, Elizabeth Helm Are Married At Christ Church

In Christ Church, Episcopal, Sausalito, where she was baptized and confirmed, Elizabeth Cameron Helm became the bride of Thomas Steven Brown on Sunday, Dec. 20.

The daughter of the late Capt. Frank Pinckney Helm and Mrs. Helm was given in marriage by a friend of her father's, John R. Daly of San Francisco in a single rang ceremony performed by the Rev. Joseph S. Doron. Because of the Advent season, only white flowers were used in the candle lighted church.

Tom, who also answers to "Steve" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Lee Brown of Fontana who came north for the wedding.

MRS. THOMAS STEVEN BROWN

Mrs. William Ellingson of Belvedere, as matron of honor, wore a white brocade sheath dress with full white taffeta overskirt adorned with a tailored bow in front at the waistline. A tiny white veil with a flat red bow as a head piece matched red satin slippers. The two other attendants, Mrs. John (Missy) Camp of Sausalito and Mary Daly of San Francisco, wore identical dresses and accessories and all carried bouquets of white camellias surrounded by English holly and tied with red ribbon streamers.

Attending the benedict as best man was Richard Turnell of Los Angeles, with Gary Schell and Dolf Molino, fellow students at the University of California, as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a sheath dress of royal blue brocade with threads of gold. Her matching hat and veil was a close fitting cap of flat blue feathers. Long gold colored satin gloves and royal blue satin opera pumps completed the costume. Heh corsage was of gold centered phaleonopsis. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige and blue dressmaker suit with soft blue velvet hat and her corsage was the same as Mrs. Helm's.

A reception for 125 was held in the Guild Hall adjoining the church immediately following the ceremony. Burning logs in the fireplace added a pleasant touch to the overmantel decor of pine boughs and red pyracanthus berries. The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake topped with living lilies of the valley. On the formally laid tea table, white chrysanthemums were flanked by silver candelabra. Friends of the bride's mother poured at the coffee and tea services at each end of the table. They were Mesdames King Hettrich, Loren Jay, Norton Meyer, Clifford E. Pehl, Frank E. Rossman and Ernest M. Smith. Also assisting were Mrs. Warren Meadowcroft of Mill Valley, Miss Kathe Kruger of Ross and Miss Jan Pehl of Kentfield.

The new Mrs. Brown wore a green and white wool suit with matching hat for her motor trip to an undisclosed destination. Her corsage was of white orchids. The couple will be at home early in January in an apartment in Oakland.

Honoring the wedding party two days before the event, Mrs. Hiram Spence of Sausalito was hostess at a rehearsal dinner including the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph S. Doron, the bride's attendants, ushers and their dates.

Mervyn Cowens Entertain At Holiday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn S. Cowen entertained at a cocktail party for 100 guests last week at the home in Sausalito.

Their landscaped hillside home, rainwashed and floodlighted, was a colorful contrast to the existing weather. Red and green dresses were much in evidence with the hostess wearing her favorite color, a turquoise brocade sheath

Mrs. James J. Carroll's mink cockaded pumps were a conversation piece. The Christmas spirit prevailed with many house guests enjoying typical Sausalito hospitality.

Pythian Sisters Plan Initiation

A candlelight service was exemplified at the recent meeting of Muir Temple Pythian Sisters in Perry's Hall, Sausalito, and afterward members had a Christmas party.

Santa Claus, portrayed by Mrs. Leona Swanke, arrived with presents and candy for all.

Committee for the evening was composed of Mesdames Frank Oliveira and Smith Pierce. Refreshments in keeping with the season were served by Mesdames George and Leslie Vogensen and Frank Whiting.

Past grand chief Mrs. Marie Holeman of Tacoma, Wash. was a guest.

The next meeting will be an initiation and on Jan. 13 a joint installation with the Knights of Pythias will take place at the Odd Fellows' Temple in Mill Valley.

Liebermans Entertain University Students

Distinguished artists and students from Burma and Israel were among the guests at a pre-Christmas party at the Belvedere home of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Lieberman.

Ben Shan, internationally known artist and number one contemporary artist in the United States attended, accompanied by his wife and daughter, Abby who is a student at Reed College. Mrs. Shan is a well-known artist herself and illustrates for such magazines as Harpers and Scientific American under the name of Bernarda Bryson. The Shan family is enroute from their home in Roosevelt, N. J., to Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asia on a cultural mission. Shan's paintings are exhibited at the Museum of Modern Art and the Metropolitan Museum and his work will shortly be exhibited in Russia.

Another artist attending was David Stone-Martin of San Francisco with Mrs. Stone-Martin.

Invited to attend from universities around the Bay Area were students from Burma and Israel who are here from their native countries studying various subjects. Typical was Miss Lily Verma who will receive her doctorate in agricultural economics and return to Burma in June where she plans to teach in a university.

A native of Mandalay, Tin Aung, is also working on his doctorate at Cal in physics. While in the States he has visited 26 states and has attended both the University of Kansas and the University of Wisconsin.

Tin U is observing various phases of life in the United States. He has spent three months at the University of Southern California and soon will go to Pennsylvania to study the community phase of our culture. His special interest is administration and supervision of secondary schools and when he returns he will be a district education officer.

Thet Tun is taking his master's degree in engineering and will reutrn to Burma as a nuclear engineer.

Moshe Gucovsky will also receive a PhD in agricultal economics from U.C. He then plans to work in Negev, the southern part of Israel which is semi-arid.

The host for the afternoon, Lieberman is a consulting engineer on water resources. During 1956 he was asked by the government of Thailand to look for water. By using American equipment and with the support of the American government wells were drilled and clear spring water located. The project was turned over to the Thai navy and Lieberman went on to Burma.

From 1957 to 1959 he was a consultant to the Burmese government. While there an important dam broke and Lieberman helped rebuild it.

From their sojourn in these countries stems the Liebermans' interest in foreign students.

Thomas Brown, Elizabeth Helm Are Married At Christ Church

In Christ Church, Episcopal, Sausalito, where she was baptized and confirmed, Elizabeth Cameron Helm became the bride of Thomas Steven Brown on Sunday, Dec. 20.

The daughter of the late Capt. Frank Pinckney Helm and Mrs. Helm was given in marriage by a friend of her father's, John R. Daly of San Francisco in a single rang ceremony performed by the Rev. Joseph S. Doron. Because of the Advent season, only white flowers were used in the candle lighted church.

Tom, who also answers to "Steve" is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawton Lee Brown of Fontana who came north for the wedding.

MRS. THOMAS STEVEN BROWN

Mrs. William Ellingson of Belvedere, as matron of honor, wore a white brocade sheath dress with full white taffeta overskirt adorned with a tailored bow in front at the waistline. A tiny white veil with a flat red bow as a head piece matched red satin slippers. The two other attendants, Mrs. John (Missy) Camp of Sausalito and Mary Daly of San Francisco, wore identical dresses and accessories and all carried bouquets of white camellias surrounded by English holly and tied with red ribbon streamers.

Attending the benedict as best man was Richard Turnell of Los Angeles, with Gary Schell and Dolf Molino, fellow students at the University of California, as ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a sheath dress of royal blue brocade with threads of gold. Her matching hat and veil was a close fitting cap of flat blue feathers. Long gold colored satin gloves and royal blue satin opera pumps completed the costume. Heh corsage was of gold centered phaleonopsis. The bridegroom's mother wore a beige and blue dressmaker suit with soft blue velvet hat and her corsage was the same as Mrs. Helm's.

A reception for 125 was held in the Guild Hall adjoining the church immediately following the ceremony. Burning logs in the fireplace added a pleasant touch to the overmantel decor of pine boughs and red pyracanthus berries. The bride's table held a three tier wedding cake topped with living lilies of the valley. On the formally laid tea table, white chrysanthemums were flanked by silver candelabra. Friends of the bride's mother poured at the coffee and tea services at each end of the table. They were Mesdames King Hettrich, Loren Jay, Norton Meyer, Clifford E. Pehl, Frank E. Rossman and Ernest M. Smith. Also assisting were Mrs. Warren Meadowcroft of Mill Valley, Miss Kathe Kruger of Ross and Miss Jan Pehl of Kentfield.

The new Mrs. Brown wore a green and white wool suit with matching hat for her motor trip to an undisclosed destination. Her corsage was of white orchids. The couple will be at home early in January in an apartment in Oakland.

Honoring the wedding party two days before the event, Mrs. Hiram Spence of Sausalito was hostess at a rehearsal dinner including the Rev. and Mrs. Joseph S. Doron, the bride's attendants, ushers and their dates.

Mervyn Cowens Entertain At Holiday Party

Mr. and Mrs. Mervyn S. Cowen entertained at a cocktail party for 100 guests last week at the home in Sausalito.

Their landscaped hillside home, rainwashed and floodlighted, was a colorful contrast to the existing weather. Red and green dresses were much in evidence with the hostess wearing her favorite color, a turquoise brocade sheath

Mrs. James J. Carroll's mink cockaded pumps were a conversation piece. The Christmas spirit prevailed with many house guests enjoying typical Sausalito hospitality.

Pythian Sisters Plan Initiation

A candlelight service was exemplified at the recent meeting of Muir Temple Pythian Sisters in Perry's Hall, Sausalito, and afterward members had a Christmas party.

Santa Claus, portrayed by Mrs. Leona Swanke, arrived with presents and candy for all.

Committee for the evening was composed of Mesdames Frank Oliveira and Smith Pierce. Refreshments in keeping with the season were served by Mesdames George and Leslie Vogensen and Frank Whiting.

Past grand chief Mrs. Marie Holeman of Tacoma, Wash. was a guest.

The next meeting will be an initiation and on Jan. 13 a joint installation with the Knights of Pythias will take place at the Odd Fellows' Temple in Mill Valley.

A DAY WITH SECRETARY HERTER

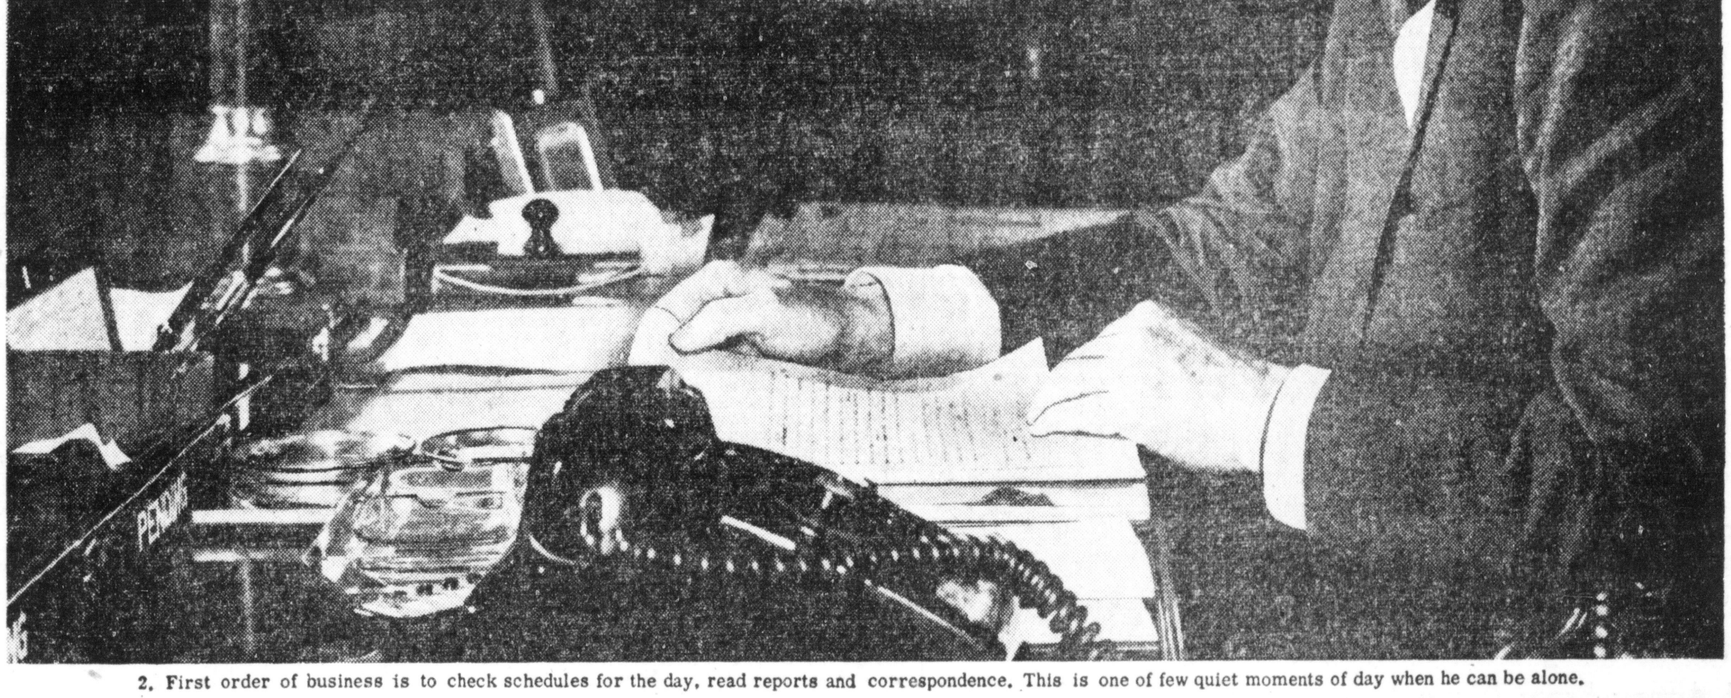
Interest in international affairs came naturally to Christian Archibald Herter. He was born 64 years ago in Paris where his parents were studying art; he learned to speak French and German along with English. They brought him to the United States when he was nine. A year after his 1915 graduation cum laude from Harvard at the age of 20, Herter obtained his appointment as attache to the American Embassy in Berlin. He served with Herbert Hoover's relief administration in Europe after World War 1. When Hoover became Secretary of Commerce in 1921, he appointed Herter as his personal assistant, a position he held until 1924. He lectured for a year at Harvard on international affairs.

Subsequently he served in the Massachusetts legislature, spent 10 years in Congress, was Governor of Massachusetts for two terms, and in 1957 became Undersecretary of State. At State, he made few headlines but he won Secretary Dulles' increasing confidence. In the last year he has helped much in the day-to-day direction of U. S. policy at the Geneva disarmament and nuclear-test conferences, and in the critical Middle East. When Dulles was stricken with abdominal cancer, Herter was made acting Secretary, then Secretary.

A man of patrician bearing and pleasing manner, Herter has won the firm respect of men around him. Associates say he considers many points of views, but "when the time comes to make the decision, he makes it." His 6-foot-5 frame is slightly bent from years of arthritis. He gets around with the aid of half-crutches. Despite that, he's a tireless worker. He arrives at the office before 9, remains often until after 8 in the evening.

He and his wife, the former Mary Caroline Pratt, have been married 42 years. They have four children — three sons and a daughter.

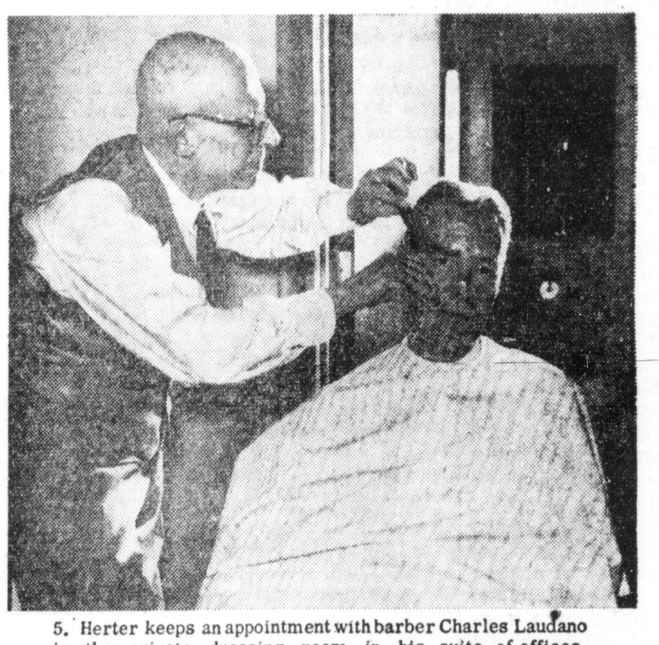
1. Herter walks off his private elevator in the State Department as he arrives for work at 8:45 a.m. This is his normal starting time.



2. First order of business is to check schedules for the day, read reports and correspondence. This is one of few quiet moments of day when he can be alone.

3. Staff assistants Max V. Krebs, center, and Harry F. Stimpson, Jr., confer with the boss on new reports and correspondence.

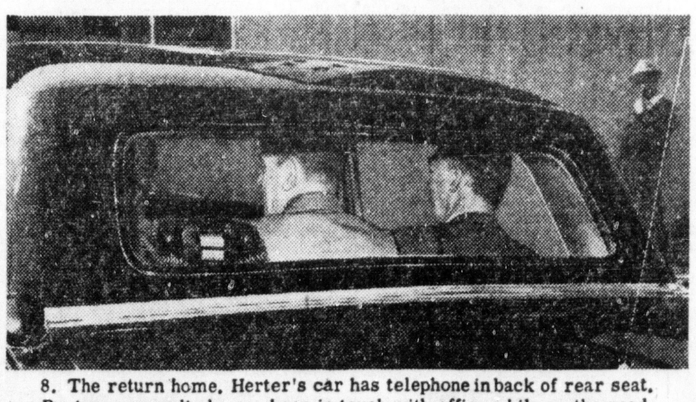
4. He lunches with John A. McCone, chairman of Atomic Energy Commission. Lunch is served in Herter's office by Percy Thomas, who has been serving top executives in State for 23 years.



5. Herter keeps an appointment with barber Charles Laudano in the private dressing room in his suite of offices.

6. He attends swearing-in of Carl W. Strom, left, as new ambassador to Bolivia. Chief of Protocol Wiley Buchanan, right, administers oath.

7. A 7 p.m. conference with deputy undersecretary of State for Political Affairs Robert Murphy. The two confer frequently during day.



8. The return home. Herter's car has telephone in back of rear seat. By two-way radio he can keep in touch with office while on the road.

9. Relaxing at home, he joins Mrs. Herter in a bit of fun with the dogs — a pair of Cairn terriers who have the run of the house.

Modern Teaching Methods Have Eased Agony From Piano Lessons

Modern Teaching 218

"My 7-year-old daughter is asking for piano lessons," a mother writes. "Her friends all take piano lessons and we could afford them. However, I suffered so much when I took lessons that I hesitate to start her.

"I was whipped almost every day because I didn't like to practice. The lessons were awful. I hate music. Should I subject my girl to that ordeal?"

I hope you'll give your girl a chance. Encourage her, but stop if she starts to fight the lessons as you did. Nothing is worth the agony some families go through over piano lessons.

There's been a change in music teaching. The better teachers now start with catchy little tunes instead of drill exercises, and soon have the children make up their own songs. The boys and girl learn the same things you learned, but they have fun doing it. Most children love music taught the modern way.

Be sure to get a good teacher. That's most important. More children are taking music lessons than ever before and there aren't enough qualified teachers to go around. Unqualified folks are getting into the act. Sometimes they are recommended by music stores or other teachers. They barge in where angels fear to tread and teach faulty techniques. Your little girl will be a helpless victime if she gets a bad teacher.

Good music should be an important part of life. Unfortunately, music is losing out at school and we have to make up for it privately.

The best time for lessons is before our children get to high school.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Modern Teaching Methods Have Eased Agony From Piano Lessons

Modern Teaching 218

"My 7-year-old daughter is asking for piano lessons," a mother writes. "Her friends all take piano lessons and we could afford them. However, I suffered so much when I took lessons that I hesitate to start her.

"I was whipped almost every day because I didn't like to practice. The lessons were awful. I hate music. Should I subject my girl to that ordeal?"

I hope you'll give your girl a chance. Encourage her, but stop if she starts to fight the lessons as you did. Nothing is worth the agony some families go through over piano lessons.

There's been a change in music teaching. The better teachers now start with catchy little tunes instead of drill exercises, and soon have the children make up their own songs. The boys and girl learn the same things you learned, but they have fun doing it. Most children love music taught the modern way.

Be sure to get a good teacher. That's most important. More children are taking music lessons than ever before and there aren't enough qualified teachers to go around. Unqualified folks are getting into the act. Sometimes they are recommended by music stores or other teachers. They barge in where angels fear to tread and teach faulty techniques. Your little girl will be a helpless victime if she gets a bad teacher.

Good music should be an important part of life. Unfortunately, music is losing out at school and we have to make up for it privately.

The best time for lessons is before our children get to high school.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "I'm a teen-ager. I'm tired of hearing people say that kids like me are lazy goof-offs. I have a job. I work hard and I get 'A' grades. Why call me lazy?"

B. B. D.

(A) You aren't lazy. Unfortunately, many folks confuse the lazy or delinquent minority with the great majority of teen-agers who are good. Eventually they'll learn better.

Mrs. Marion Barcanes Barr, 50, of 1342 Lincoln avenue, San Rafael, must pay a $200 fine. The judge put her on 10 months probation and ordered her not to drive for 30 days. San Rafael police arrested her on Fourth street on Dec. 19.

George Hale Dray, 27, a carpenter living at 88 Florence avenue, San Anselmo, must pay a $225 fine and use his car only for work during the next three months. During that time, he may drive only between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Dray was caught in San Anselmo on Redhill avenue on Dec. 19.

TO PHOTOGRAPH GAMES—Marvin Becker of Sausalito, pictured here, will be official photographer for the Winter Olympic Games to be held in February at Squaw Valley. Becker is a movie producer with studios in San Francisco.

Sausalito Man Named Olympic Photographer

Marvin Becker, who resides at 414 Pine street in Sausalito and is a film producer with studios located in San Francisco, has been named official photographer for the Winter Olympic Games at Squaw Valley.

Becker, whose motion picture studio is located at 915 Howard street, was granted both domestic and international rights for the movies, spokesman Alvin T. Guthertz said.

The events will be photographed in both 16 and 35 millimeter film. The movies will be released in theaters and for private showings around the world.

The photographer, who completed a film showing the preparations at Squaw Valley, "Winter Olympic Playground 1960," will move into the area this month with a crew of more than 20 cameramen to plan camera positions and prepare for picture shooting.

DRAT ALASKA

California Losing Ground In Race To Be 'Biggest, Best'

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's reputation for the biggest and the most is in jeopardy.

For one thing, Alaska came along in '59 as a state and knocked us for a statistical loop. Look what happened:

California's Mt. Whitney (14,495 feet) long ruled as the highest peak in any state. And now? It's 15th.

Mt. McKinley (20,320) has snatched the crown away from us, and the next 13 highest peaks also are in Alaska.

The 49th state has displaced Texas as the biggest—586,400 square miles to 267,339. That lodged California in third place with its 158,693.

But that isn't all. Far from it.

For instance, we are fifth in the number of psychiatrists per 100,000 population. New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maryland are ahead of us.

By an odd coincidence, we are also fifth in the number of school buses. Imagine!

There's no getting away from the fact California tops them all in the number of licensed drivers. But what's this?—we trail Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York in learner permits. Fifth again!

California is mighty proud of its highways. But Texas has a bigger interstate system—2,900 miles to our 2,200—and New York has the nerve to spend more on roads.

Nevada has displaced California as the fastest growing state, on a percentage basis. And where we once were known as a haven for oldsters, we now rate 13th in the population rate of residents 65 years and older drawing assistance.

California boasts more deer and more hunters than any other state. But our kill — deer, not hunters—falls about 33 per cent below other western states. One reason: We don't shoot antlerless deer.

Why, even in business failures, we must bow to New York, 268,104 to 209,443, to cite the 1958 figures. On education, we spend $343.54 per pupil. Oregon puts out $356.53. And Alaska: $418.66.

So it goes—each set of figures a heavy blow at California firstness. But we must face it manfully. Perhaps 1960 will be a year for superlatives.

State Vehicle Dept. Seeks New Quarters

New quarters are being sought for the San Rafael offices of the Department of Motor Vehicles. The office will move if more roomy premises at a reasonable price can be found before expiration of the present lease at 1926 Fourth street on Oct. 1, reported Olin Hughes, district manager.

Work of seeking such a building with adjacent parking space is in the hands of the district supervisor in Santa Rosa.

In general the requirements are stated to be more office space, a bigger lobby to receive applicants for new or renewed licenses, and larger parking space just outside, a spokesman said. The location should be on level ground.

During the past decade while the present quarters have been used, it was pointed out, there has been a big increase in both county population and the number of motor vehicles.

Burglary Top Offense Of Young Criminals

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Youth Authority reported recently that nearly one-quarter of the boys admitted to its institutions had been convicted of burglary.

This was the most frequent offense. Others included auto theft, 17.7 per cent, and robbery, 10.2 per cent.

About two-thirds of the Japanese merchant fleet is less than 10 years old.

PUBLICITY HELPED

Plastic Bags Still Kill, But Not So Frequently

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Plastic bags are still killing infants, but the death rate has diminished since a nationwide campaign against the menace.

A United Press International check showed today that 93 children, most of them infants, have died so far this year when the thin plastic adhered to their faces and shut off breathing. Twenty-four persons have used the bags to commit suicide.

While 93 infant fatalities might shock the nation, there is reason to believe the figure would have been higher had not the press, radio and television spread the alarm last summer that the bags are dangerous around babies.

Last July 24 there had been 79 such deaths. Only 14 more have been counted in the last five months, indicating the effectiveness of warnings which were issued by the makers of plastic bags, by retailers who use large sized ones for packaging, and by various public health agencies.

These warnings emphasized that the ultra-light type of filmy plastic used in trade channels for packaging should not be used as crib or mattress covers; and that intact plastic bags should be kept away from small children.

Despite the warnings, a few deaths still are reported from time to time. An infant death was attributed unofficially to the use of a plastic bag as a mattress cover at Washington, Ind., Friday night. A three-month-old baby was found with her face pressed into the plastic. A 4-month-old Chicago girl was found dead in her crib a few days earlier, a plastic bag across her face.

A plastic cover on a couch was blamed for the suffocation of Robby Lynn Duarte, 3 months old, at Los Angeles three days before Christmas. His mother, Mrs. Stella Duarte, said she left the baby alone for about eight minutes. Another California infant, Wanda Mae Dodd, 6 months old, died in Torrance when she apparently crawled into a plastic bag.

When UPI editors last spring noted dispatches were appearing on the news wires from throughout the country, a "roundup" type story was produced, detailing the deaths. The story included comments from health officials and from spokesmen for the plastic industry.

The industry attributed the deaths to misuse of the bags. But criticism began to appear from municipal bodies, from state legislatures and from Congress. Some officials wanted to ban the bags.

The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., conferred with representatives of the National Safety Council, the American Medical Assn. and federal agencies and began a widespread educational campaign.

A crash advertising program was drawn up. Advertisements appeared in 117 newspapers in 103 major metropolitan areas and radio was enlisted in the campaign. Motion picture clips were distributed and television stations got slides with copy for spot announcements.

The society told the UPI that "Medical statistics show there has been no increase in the number of crib deaths before and after plastic bags were singled out as the cause," but "the industry was out to educate and save lives (and) we feel sure we accomplished these goals."

Words printed and spoken about the plastic deaths apparently gave 24 suicide-bent persons ideas on how to end their lives. But no one has come forward with any remedy to this problem.

Food Prices Were Lower This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans bought more food—at generally lower prices—in 1959. Prices are expected to average a little lower next year.

Although many food shoppers may not realize it, monthly figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics were anywhere from 0.5 to 4 points below the comparable 1958 figures from February through October.

In January the bureau's index was 119.0 of the 1947-49 figure, compared with 118.2 a year earlier, but the 1959 figure was lower than 1958's every month after that.

Due to an increase of 4 per cent in tonnage, however, the total spent on food through all channels of distribution rose to 73 billion dollars from 70½ billion in 1958, estimates Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Mnufacturers Assn.

Tulare Schools To Ask Bond Issue

TULARE (AP)—A second election will be held in an effort to obtain approval by voters in the Tulare Union High School District of a one and one-half million dollar bond issue for construction of new buildings.

Last month a similar proposal failed by a small margin.

School trustees have announced they will set a new election date this week.

Planners To Eye Kentfield Tract

Public hearing on a tentative map of Kent Woodlands Unit 14, on extensions of Crown and Ridgecrest roads in Kentfield, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The proposed subdivision comprises about 25 acres, to be made into 20 lots each with minimum of 10,000 square feet and with none less than 90 feet in average width.

Three new streets are to be installed. No street grades will exceed 18 per cent and all lots are to the used for single family dwellings.

Fines Meted Out To Drunk Drivers

Two drunken drivers were fined last week by Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Municipal Court.

Mrs. Marion Barcanes Barr, 50, of 1342 Lincoln avenue, San Rafael, must pay a $200 fine. The judge put her on 10 months probation and ordered her not to drive for 30 days. San Rafael police arrested her on Fourth street on Dec. 19.

George Hale Dray, 27, a carpenter living at 88 Florence avenue, San Anselmo, must pay a $225 fine and use his car only for work during the next three months. During that time, he may drive only between 6 a.m. and 7 p.m.

Dray was caught in San Anselmo on Redhill avenue on Dec. 19.

DRAT ALASKA

California Losing Ground In Race To Be 'Biggest, Best'

By MORRIE LANDSBERG

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's reputation for the biggest and the most is in jeopardy.

For one thing, Alaska came along in '59 as a state and knocked us for a statistical loop. Look what happened:

California's Mt. Whitney (14,495 feet) long ruled as the highest peak in any state. And now? It's 15th.

Mt. McKinley (20,320) has snatched the crown away from us, and the next 13 highest peaks also are in Alaska.

The 49th state has displaced Texas as the biggest—586,400 square miles to 267,339. That lodged California in third place with its 158,693.

But that isn't all. Far from it.

For instance, we are fifth in the number of psychiatrists per 100,000 population. New York, Connecticut, Massachusetts and Maryland are ahead of us.

By an odd coincidence, we are also fifth in the number of school buses. Imagine!

There's no getting away from the fact California tops them all in the number of licensed drivers. But what's this?—we trail Ohio, Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York in learner permits. Fifth again!

California is mighty proud of its highways. But Texas has a bigger interstate system—2,900 miles to our 2,200—and New York has the nerve to spend more on roads.

Nevada has displaced California as the fastest growing state, on a percentage basis. And where we once were known as a haven for oldsters, we now rate 13th in the population rate of residents 65 years and older drawing assistance.

California boasts more deer and more hunters than any other state. But our kill — deer, not hunters—falls about 33 per cent below other western states. One reason: We don't shoot antlerless deer.

Why, even in business failures, we must bow to New York, 268,104 to 209,443, to cite the 1958 figures. On education, we spend $343.54 per pupil. Oregon puts out $356.53. And Alaska: $418.66.

So it goes—each set of figures a heavy blow at California firstness. But we must face it manfully. Perhaps 1960 will be a year for superlatives.

State Vehicle Dept. Seeks New Quarters

New quarters are being sought for the San Rafael offices of the Department of Motor Vehicles. The office will move if more roomy premises at a reasonable price can be found before expiration of the present lease at 1926 Fourth street on Oct. 1, reported Olin Hughes, district manager.

Work of seeking such a building with adjacent parking space is in the hands of the district supervisor in Santa Rosa.

In general the requirements are stated to be more office space, a bigger lobby to receive applicants for new or renewed licenses, and larger parking space just outside, a spokesman said. The location should be on level ground.

During the past decade while the present quarters have been used, it was pointed out, there has been a big increase in both county population and the number of motor vehicles.

Burglary Top Offense Of Young Criminals

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The California Youth Authority reported recently that nearly one-quarter of the boys admitted to its institutions had been convicted of burglary.

This was the most frequent offense. Others included auto theft, 17.7 per cent, and robbery, 10.2 per cent.

About two-thirds of the Japanese merchant fleet is less than 10 years old.

PUBLICITY HELPED

Plastic Bags Still Kill, But Not So Frequently

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Plastic bags are still killing infants, but the death rate has diminished since a nationwide campaign against the menace.

A United Press International check showed today that 93 children, most of them infants, have died so far this year when the thin plastic adhered to their faces and shut off breathing. Twenty-four persons have used the bags to commit suicide.

While 93 infant fatalities might shock the nation, there is reason to believe the figure would have been higher had not the press, radio and television spread the alarm last summer that the bags are dangerous around babies.

Last July 24 there had been 79 such deaths. Only 14 more have been counted in the last five months, indicating the effectiveness of warnings which were issued by the makers of plastic bags, by retailers who use large sized ones for packaging, and by various public health agencies.

These warnings emphasized that the ultra-light type of filmy plastic used in trade channels for packaging should not be used as crib or mattress covers; and that intact plastic bags should be kept away from small children.

Despite the warnings, a few deaths still are reported from time to time. An infant death was attributed unofficially to the use of a plastic bag as a mattress cover at Washington, Ind., Friday night. A three-month-old baby was found with her face pressed into the plastic. A 4-month-old Chicago girl was found dead in her crib a few days earlier, a plastic bag across her face.

A plastic cover on a couch was blamed for the suffocation of Robby Lynn Duarte, 3 months old, at Los Angeles three days before Christmas. His mother, Mrs. Stella Duarte, said she left the baby alone for about eight minutes. Another California infant, Wanda Mae Dodd, 6 months old, died in Torrance when she apparently crawled into a plastic bag.

When UPI editors last spring noted dispatches were appearing on the news wires from throughout the country, a "roundup" type story was produced, detailing the deaths. The story included comments from health officials and from spokesmen for the plastic industry.

The industry attributed the deaths to misuse of the bags. But criticism began to appear from municipal bodies, from state legislatures and from Congress. Some officials wanted to ban the bags.

The Society of the Plastics Industry, Inc., conferred with representatives of the National Safety Council, the American Medical Assn. and federal agencies and began a widespread educational campaign.

A crash advertising program was drawn up. Advertisements appeared in 117 newspapers in 103 major metropolitan areas and radio was enlisted in the campaign. Motion picture clips were distributed and television stations got slides with copy for spot announcements.

The society told the UPI that "Medical statistics show there has been no increase in the number of crib deaths before and after plastic bags were singled out as the cause," but "the industry was out to educate and save lives (and) we feel sure we accomplished these goals."

Words printed and spoken about the plastic deaths apparently gave 24 suicide-bent persons ideas on how to end their lives. But no one has come forward with any remedy to this problem.

Food Prices Were Lower This Year

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans bought more food—at generally lower prices—in 1959. Prices are expected to average a little lower next year.

Although many food shoppers may not realize it, monthly figures from the Bureau of Labor Statistics were anywhere from 0.5 to 4 points below the comparable 1958 figures from February through October.

In January the bureau's index was 119.0 of the 1947-49 figure, compared with 118.2 a year earlier, but the 1959 figure was lower than 1958's every month after that.

Due to an increase of 4 per cent in tonnage, however, the total spent on food through all channels of distribution rose to 73 billion dollars from 70½ billion in 1958, estimates Paul S. Willis, president of the Grocery Mnufacturers Assn.

Tulare Schools To Ask Bond Issue

TULARE (AP)—A second election will be held in an effort to obtain approval by voters in the Tulare Union High School District of a one and one-half million dollar bond issue for construction of new buildings.

Last month a similar proposal failed by a small margin.

School trustees have announced they will set a new election date this week.

Planners To Eye Kentfield Tract

Public hearing on a tentative map of Kent Woodlands Unit 14, on extensions of Crown and Ridgecrest roads in Kentfield, will be held at 2 p.m. Monday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

The proposed subdivision comprises about 25 acres, to be made into 20 lots each with minimum of 10,000 square feet and with none less than 90 feet in average width.

Three new streets are to be installed. No street grades will exceed 18 per cent and all lots are to the used for single family dwellings.

DISASTER OFFICE PLANS TO MEET NUCLEAR BLOW

System Established To Warn Of Coming Attack, Advise Residents

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—"This is Governor Edmund G. Brown. Our military authorities are expecting an attack by enemy forces. Public warning devices have been sounded. This is not a test."

In a cool deep voice, California's chief executive already has recorded that message. It now is in the hands of 104 radio stations in the state cooperating in the Conelrad system.

Everyone hopes the message will never be delivered but the state disaster office under director Harold Robinson is preparing for the day—in case it comes.

If the attack came today, chances are nearly half of the 15 million residents of California could be killed by fallout alone. In a Dec. 7 test disaster office officials counted the possible toll at 7,700,000. And that did not take into account the millions who would have died from the blast itself.

Planning for civil defense in a changing world is not simply a matter of making an inflexible plan and sticking to it. Ten years ago it was assumed the attack, if it came, would come from fast bombers and there would be hours of warning. Now it probably would come with very little—if any—warning through intercontinental rockets.

As a result, the entire concept of civil defense has been changed. Evacuation would come mainly after the attack and it would be from the path of radioactive fallout—not principally from bombs.

Still, on paper, the plan is simple. The federal government has designated Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco as "critical" target areas but Robinson expects the initial attack would come on the Strategic Air Command bases in the state — Castle, March, Travis, Vandenberg, Beale and Mather Air Force Bases.

As soon as the attack appeared certain, the civil defense "operations plan"—already in the hands of state agencies and local government officials — would go into effect:

As the rockets approached, the warning would arrive in California from the headquarters of the Western Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., and then be sent to 12 key warning points in the state —at Ukiah, Oakland, Salinas, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego, El Centro, San Bernardino, Fresno, Sacramento, Redding and in Kern County.

A light and bell warning system would be activated in municipalities, sheriff's offices and such agencies. At latest count there were 1177 of these in the state. At the same time, the message would go over the Department of Justice teletype system.

Governor Brown's recorded message would be broadcast and an announcer would follow (by recording) to say that this was for real. His message would give — over 1240 and 640 kilocycles—details of what the threatened citizen should do to avoid death.

There would be two courses the citizen could follow: He could join a local dispersal movement or he could take shelter where he was. If he dispersed he should take water, food, clothing, a shovel and axe — that sort of material. (He'd be told this over the radio.) If he was on the highway, he would be advised to keep driving.

After the attack—and that's where civil defense is concentrating its efforts now—a plan to recover some semblance of order would go into effect:

Twenty state agencies have been recruited for specific tasks. As examples, the Agriculture Department would take care of food supplies and the Department of Corrections would handle mass care of victims.

The state Civil Defense Office would coordinate the recovery. To help in this major job, Robinson's agency has 115 portable hospitals, hundreds of thousands of blood procurement sets, 50 sanitation units, 680 first aid stations, seven emergency communications units, 100 state-owned fire pumper trucks, 29 rescue trucks, 105 radiological monitor squad trailers, 16 mobile radiological laboratories, 10,815 instruments, five fire communications units, 100,000 feet of aluminum pipe for emergency transportations of water and other items.

(Robinson was criticized by legisaltive analyst A. Alan Post for his plane to have doctors assemble the portable hospitals. But he answered that the hospitals do not include buildings, only equipment and are placed near the site of their proposed housing.)

Civil defense workers would monitor radioactivity to see when citizens could come out of their shelters.

(Fallout in California would go generally toward the east. Right now more than 200 cities in California get twice-a-day predictions on which area would be affected within three hours if there were an attack on any one of the three major city targets.)

But there is one element that must be taken into account but cannot be predicted—people. So far most Californians have refused to take civil defense seriously.

As Gov. Brown puts it: "Preaching civil defense (is like) urging residents on the slopes of Mt. Vesuvius to pack their bags and move away. The advice makes sense. But those who are given the advice just close their ears and refuse to budge."

RECEIVES MEDAL — S/Sgt. Richard J. Gingras of San Rafael recently was awarded the Air Force commendation medal at Osan Air Base, Korea, for his work while chief of the unclassified branch, administrative services, Headquarters, Western Air Defense Force at Hamilton Air Force Base. Gingras arrived in Korea in September after serving six years at Hamilton.

Couple Fetes 50 Years Of Wedlock

Fifty years of married life were celebrated recently by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Barker of Corte Madera at a small family gathering in their home at 427 Redwood avenue.

Barker, a native of England, was 26 when he met Malinda Scoville, 27, in her home town of Victoria, British Columbia. They were married Dec. 11, 1909, in Victoria's Episcopal Church.

Barker built and sold homes in Victoria for 12 years before taking his family to Glendora in Southern California, where he worked for a home construction firm.

In 1933, the Barkers moved to Corte Madera. The Redwood avenue house has been their home ever since. Barker was employed by various Marin contracting firms until he retired about five years ago.

The couple had four children, one of whom, Robert, 46, is still living. He is a designer and photographer in San Francisco. There are four grandchildren. A nephew, Willard F. Scovill, lives at 9 Park street, San Rafael.

The mountain lion has been the athletic symbol of Pennsylvania State University since 1907.

Tiburon contractor Frederick C. Rowley, who became a Salvation Army bandsman at the age of 10, has been named director of the Oakland Citadel band of the Salvation Army.

As director, Rowley has taken charge of all Salvation Army music produced in the East Bay area.

Rowley, who is president of the Rowley Construction Corp. of Tiburon and a resident at 29 Sonora court, Tiburon, is the son of Salvation Army parents. Born in Australia, he was commissioned deputy bandmaster of the Wellington (New Zealand) city band when he was only 14.

He once served as associate conductor of the symphony orchestra of the University of Adelaide, Australia, and was director of the Trojan Band at the University of Southern California for three years and adjudicator for chorale work at the University of California at Los Angeles for three years.

The musical contractor, a graduate of the London College of Music and the Royal Academy of London, has conducted both choral and instrumental groups in the Hollywood Bowl and in the Los Angeles philharmonic auditorium.

'Heart, Blood' System Of Government Urged

Marin County supporters of the theory of a new "Heart and Blood Government," warranted to drive devils out of the body politic and to improve matters monetary, racial and in other ways, are being sought by "Father" William Edwards Riker, a visitor from Holy City, Santa Clara County.

Father Riker proposes to guarantee world peace and to "get rid of communism, money lords, all poverty and criminals also labor troubles and unemployment" to say nothing of "many more of such horrible conditions and things that we will not mention at this particular time."

LIKE HEART, BLOOD

His three-page prospectus of a "plan of perfected government" explains that the scheme will function like the heart and blood as a vitalizing and sustaining force in human affairs.

"The government will take over as never before the allness of the banking and money business in all of its phases," says the prospectus.

"It will also do away with all large money bills, and in their place will have both a bank credit and check writing system, with plenty of small change for convenience that will also surely do away with both hoarding and money stealing thieves, and various other kinds of those no-good criminals."

COMMON TONGUE

As to world peace, Father Riker says that "the first step is to develop a common Gentile White Race Language, taken from all the different nationality languages of the Gentile White Race People, and using only their easiest spoken words."

No suggestion is made about selection of such words, possibly a debatable point since language experts insist there are no words hard to pronounce if you're accustomed to pronouncing them.

"Nationality names," according to Father Riker, should be "pinned only to their country" and not to individuals.

A third step, he says, "is for one and all to fully decide, since they are birds of one feather, to corporatingly (sic) and brotherly flock together as never before under one united flag, one boundary line and also one government as is hereinintellegiently prescribed."

Three "distinct so-called devils in this world" should be gotten rid of, the document continues. These are listed as "those money lords that use the power in their selfish begotten money to rule over this world and mostly to their own advantage," different languages "that keep the great Gentile White Race People angrily and sinfully separated" and "political, religious and social ignorance that is upon, and in, all of those exponents — that really not any longer should be, because it is now possible for them to be otherwise."

Due to lack of space in his pronouncement, Father Riker promises a book soon.

FLOWERS FOR GOOD OLD LUDWIG v. B.

BONN, Germany (AP)—"Buy some flowers for good old Ludwig. . ."

So wrote Ray Fair of Fresno in an envelope addressed simply: "Ludwig van Beethoven, Bonn, Germany."

Ray, announcing he was acting for the pupils in Miss Kulgren's English class, sent along $2 to commemorate the 189th birthday of the great German composer, on Dec. 16.

The letter found its way to the city authorities. The flowers were bought and laid at the base of the Beethoven Memorial here in his birthplace.

Quake, Soil Tests On Transbay Tube Slated In January

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Seismic studies and bay bottom soil sampling will start next month as important preliminaries to the Bay Area Rapid Transit District's transbay tube project.

This was announced yesterday by Keneth M. Hoover, chief engineer for the district.

Underwater geophone will be placed at depths of 175 to 200 feet below the bay surface to record earthquake tremors along the proposed tube alignment. Engineers said it will be the first time such underwater seismic studies have been made in a project of this type.

Soil core samples will be drilled and logged simultaneously.

The tests will cost about $125,000.

The transbay tube, designed to connect San Francisco and Oakland in the five-county rapid transit system, is expected to cost 84 million dollars.

Fairfax Residents Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary

Charles and Velia Ghiselli of Fairfax are beginning the second half of their married life.

In San Francisco's SS. Peter and Paul's Church on Dec. 19, 1909, 22-year-old Charles claimed 16-year-old Velia Tabucchi as his bride. Velia had come to the United States from Lucca, Italy, with her parents when she was 12 years old.

Children and grandchildren of the couple hosted a dinner party in San Francisco on Dec. 19 celebrating the couple's golden wedding anniversary.

The Ghiselli's have four children: Mrs. Charles Lucchesi of San Francisco; Charles Ghiselli Jr. of Antioch; John Ghiselli, who is working in Saudi Arabia, and Brother George Ghiselli, a member of the Salesian Order teaching at Don Bosco Technical High School in South San Gabriel, Los Angeles County.

The three grandchildren of the Ghisellis were at the anniversary party: Evelyn Lucchesi, 15, her sister, Barbara, 12, and Bruce Ghiselli, 18, the son of Charles Jr.

The elder Ghiselli operated the Bay Street Produce Co. in San Francisco until his retirement three year ago. The family has resided in Fairfax 12 years.

DISASTER OFFICE PLANS TO MEET NUCLEAR BLOW

System Established To Warn Of Coming Attack, Advise Residents

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—"This is Governor Edmund G. Brown. Our military authorities are expecting an attack by enemy forces. Public warning devices have been sounded. This is not a test."

In a cool deep voice, California's chief executive already has recorded that message. It now is in the hands of 104 radio stations in the state cooperating in the Conelrad system.

Everyone hopes the message will never be delivered but the state disaster office under director Harold Robinson is preparing for the day—in case it comes.

If the attack came today, chances are nearly half of the 15 million residents of California could be killed by fallout alone. In a Dec. 7 test disaster office officials counted the possible toll at 7,700,000. And that did not take into account the millions who would have died from the blast itself.

Planning for civil defense in a changing world is not simply a matter of making an inflexible plan and sticking to it. Ten years ago it was assumed the attack, if it came, would come from fast bombers and there would be hours of warning. Now it probably would come with very little—if any—warning through intercontinental rockets.

As a result, the entire concept of civil defense has been changed. Evacuation would come mainly after the attack and it would be from the path of radioactive fallout—not principally from bombs.

Still, on paper, the plan is simple. The federal government has designated Los Angeles, San Diego and San Francisco as "critical" target areas but Robinson expects the initial attack would come on the Strategic Air Command bases in the state — Castle, March, Travis, Vandenberg, Beale and Mather Air Force Bases.

As soon as the attack appeared certain, the civil defense "operations plan"—already in the hands of state agencies and local government officials — would go into effect:

As the rockets approached, the warning would arrive in California from the headquarters of the Western Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs, Colo., and then be sent to 12 key warning points in the state —at Ukiah, Oakland, Salinas, Santa Barbara, Los Angeles, San Diego, El Centro, San Bernardino, Fresno, Sacramento, Redding and in Kern County.

A light and bell warning system would be activated in municipalities, sheriff's offices and such agencies. At latest count there were 1177 of these in the state. At the same time, the message would go over the Department of Justice teletype system.

Governor Brown's recorded message would be broadcast and an announcer would follow (by recording) to say that this was for real. His message would give — over 1240 and 640 kilocycles—details of what the threatened citizen should do to avoid death.

There would be two courses the citizen could follow: He could join a local dispersal movement or he could take shelter where he was. If he dispersed he should take water, food, clothing, a shovel and axe — that sort of material. (He'd be told this over the radio.) If he was on the highway, he would be advised to keep driving.

After the attack—and that's where civil defense is concentrating its efforts now—a plan to recover some semblance of order would go into effect:

Twenty state agencies have been recruited for specific tasks. As examples, the Agriculture Department would take care of food supplies and the Department of Corrections would handle mass care of victims.

The state Civil Defense Office would coordinate the recovery. To help in this major job, Robinson's agency has 115 portable hospitals, hundreds of thousands of blood procurement sets, 50 sanitation units, 680 first aid stations, seven emergency communications units, 100 state-owned fire pumper trucks, 29 rescue trucks, 105 radiological monitor squad trailers, 16 mobile radiological laboratories, 10,815 instruments, five fire communications units, 100,000 feet of aluminum pipe for emergency transportations of water and other items.

(Robinson was criticized by legisaltive analyst A. Alan Post for his plane to have doctors assemble the portable hospitals. But he answered that the hospitals do not include buildings, only equipment and are placed near the site of their proposed housing.)

Civil defense workers would monitor radioactivity to see when citizens could come out of their shelters.

(Fallout in California would go generally toward the east. Right now more than 200 cities in California get twice-a-day predictions on which area would be affected within three hours if there were an attack on any one of the three major city targets.)

But there is one element that must be taken into account but cannot be predicted—people. So far most Californians have refused to take civil defense seriously.

As Gov. Brown puts it: "Preaching civil defense (is like) urging residents on the slopes of Mt. Vesuvius to pack their bags and move away. The advice makes sense. But those who are given the advice just close their ears and refuse to budge."

Couple Fetes 50 Years Of Wedlock

Fifty years of married life were celebrated recently by Mr. and Mrs. Joseph B. Barker of Corte Madera at a small family gathering in their home at 427 Redwood avenue.

Barker, a native of England, was 26 when he met Malinda Scoville, 27, in her home town of Victoria, British Columbia. They were married Dec. 11, 1909, in Victoria's Episcopal Church.

Barker built and sold homes in Victoria for 12 years before taking his family to Glendora in Southern California, where he worked for a home construction firm.

In 1933, the Barkers moved to Corte Madera. The Redwood avenue house has been their home ever since. Barker was employed by various Marin contracting firms until he retired about five years ago.

The couple had four children, one of whom, Robert, 46, is still living. He is a designer and photographer in San Francisco. There are four grandchildren. A nephew, Willard F. Scovill, lives at 9 Park street, San Rafael.

The mountain lion has been the athletic symbol of Pennsylvania State University since 1907.
